Diversity interdependence empathy and perspective are essential values of global citizenship global citizens harness these values and are uniquely positioned to contribute in multiple contexts locally nationally and globally. In 2023 the UNESCO recommendation on education for peace and human rights international understanding cooperation fundamental freedoms global citizenship and sustainable development is a global standard setting instrument that lays out how education should be used to bring about lasting peace. Global citizenship is the umbrella term for social political environmental and economic actions of globally minded individuals and communities on a worldwide scale. The term can refer to a form of transnationality specifically the idea that one's identity transcends geography or political borders and that responsibilities or rights are derived from membership in a broader global class of humanity. Global citizenship is the term for social environmental and economic actions of individuals and communities who recognise that every person is a citizen of the world. It is about how decisions in one part of the planet can affect people living in a different part of it and about how we all share a common humanity and are of one world. Global citizenship definition while it may mean different things to different people the most common global citizenship definition is the idea that all people have civic responsibilities to the world as a whole rather than just their own country. Global citizenship education (GCE) looks into these elements to support learners of all ages to become ethical empathetic and respectful human beings who can adapt to the world rapidly moving forward even amidst its most complex challenges. The concept of global citizenship is enjoying increased currency in the public and academic domains conventionally associated with cosmopolitan political theory it has moved into the public domain marshaled by elite actors international institutions policy makers nongovernmental organizations and ordinary people. Their goal is to defend human dignity and to promote social accountability and international solidarity in which tolerance inclusion and recognition of diversity occupy pride of place in word.
