as the status of poetry became less and less certain over the course of the nineteenth century poets such as baudelaire and mallarmé began to explore ways to ensure that poetry would not be overtaken by music in the hierarchy of the arts helen abbott examines the verse and prose poetry of these two important poets together with their critical writings to address how their attitudes towards the performance practice of poetry influenced the future of both poetry and music central to her analysis is the issue of voice a term that remains elusive in spite of its broad application acknowledging that voice can be physical textual and symbolic abbott explores the meaning of voice in terms of four categories 1 rhetoric specifically the rules governing the deployment of voice in poetry 2 the human body and its effect on how voice is used in poetry 3 exchange that is the way voices either interact or fail to interact and 4 music specifically the question of whether poetry should be sung abbott shows how baudelaire and mallarmé exploit the complexity and instability of the notion of voice to propose a new aesthetic that situates poetry between conversation and music voice thus becomes an important process of interaction and exchange rather than something stable or static the implications of this for baudelaire and mallarmé are profoundly significant since it maps out the possible future of poetry from timur s tent in samarqand to shah abbas s palace in isfahan and humayun s tomb in delhi the pavilion has been an integral part of persianate gardens since its earliest appearance at the achaemenid garden in pasargadae in the sixth century bc here mohammad gharipour places both the garden and the pavilion within their historical literary and artistic contexts emphasizing the importance of the pavilion which has hitherto been overlooked in the study of iranian historical architecture starting with an examination of the depictions and representations of gardens in religious texts gharipour analyses the how the idea of the garden developed from the model of pre islamic gardens in achaemenid and sassanian persia to its mentions in the zoroastrian text of aban yasht and on to its central role as paradise in the qur an continuing on with an exploration of gardens and pavilions in persian poetry gharipour offers in depth analysis of their literal and metaphorical values it is in the poetry of major persian poets such as ferdowsi naser khosrow sa di rumi and hafez that gharipour finds that whilst gardens are praised for their spiritual values they also contain significant symbolic worth in terms of temporal wealth and power persian gardens and pavilions then goes onto examine the garden and the pavilion as reflected in persian miniature painting sculpture and carpets as well as accounts of travelers to persia with masters such as bizhad representing daily life as well as the more mystical prose and poetry in for example sa di s bustan the orchard and golestan the rose garden the garden and the pavilion can be seen to have crucial semiotic significances and cultural meanings but in addition to this they also point to historical patterns of patronage and ownership which were of central importance in the diplomatic and social life of the royal courts of persia gharipour thereby highlights the metaphorical spiritual symbolic and religious aspects of gardens as well as their more materialistic and economic functions this book reaches back through persia s rich history to explore the material and psychological relationships between human beings pavilions and gardens and will be a valuable resource for art history architecture and iranian studies henri lefebvre s three volume critique of everyday life is perhaps the richest most prescient work by one of the twentieth century s greatest philosophers the first volume presented an introduction to the concept of everyday life written twenty years later this second volume attempts to establish the necessary formal instruments for analysis and outlines a series of theoretical categories within everyday life such as the theory of the semantic field and the theory of moments the moment at which the book appeared 1961 was significant both for france and for lefebvre himself he was just beginning his career as a lecturer in sociology at strasbourg and then at nanterre and many of the ideas which were influential in the events leading up to 1968 are to be found in this critique in its impetuous often undisciplined prose the reader may catch a glimpse of how charismatic a lecturer lefebvre must have been

while gender studies has made its mark on literary studies much scholarship on the german middle ages is largely inaccessible to the anglo american audience with gender at its core as a category of analysis gender bonds gender binds uniquely opens up medieval german material to english speakers recognizing the impact of ann marie rasmussen s mothers and daughters in medieval german literature this transatlantic volume expands on questions introduced in her 1997 book and subsequent work more than a mere tribute the collection moves the debates forward in new directions it examines how gender bonds together people practices texts and interpretive traditions while constraining and delimiting these things socially ideologically culturally or historically as the contributions demonstrate a close materially focused analysis produces complex results not easily reduced to a platitude the essays steer a firm course through the terrain of gender bonds and binds many of which remain challenging in the present herein lies the broader reach of this volume for understanding the longevity of patriarchy and its effects on human relations demonstrates how crucial the study of the past can be for us as a society today i ve been a philosopher for all my adult life and the three most profound books of philosophy that i have ever read are ecclesiastes job and song of songs these are the opening lines of kreeft s three philosophies of life he reflects that there are ultimately only three philosophies of life and each one is represented by one of these books of the bible life is vanity life is suffering life is love in these three books kreeft shows how we have dante s great epic the divine comedy played out from hell to purgatory to heaven but it is an epic played out in our hearts and lives here and now just as there is movement in dante s epic so there is movement in these books from ecclesiastes to job from job to song of songs love is the final answer to ecclesiastes quest the alternative to vanity and the true meaning of life finally kreeft sees in these books the epitome of theological virtues of faith hope and love and an esstential summary of the spiritual history of the world in this original contribution to elizabeth bishop studies marilyn may lombardi uses previously unpublished materials letters diaries notebooks and unfinished poems to shed new light on the poet s published work she explores the ways bishop s lesbianism alcoholism allergic illnesses and fear of mental instability affected her poetry the ways she translated her bodily experiences into poetic form a cornerstone of the body and the song is the poet s thirty year correspondence with her physician dr anny baumann who was both friend and surrogate mother to bishop the letters reveal bishop s struggles to understand the relation between her physical and creative drives dr anny also helped bishop unravel the connections in her life between psychosomatic illness and early maternal deprivation her mother was declared incurably insane and institutionalized in 1916 when bishop was five years old effectively an orphan she spent the rest of her childhood with relatives in addition to these letters lombardi uses bishop s unpublished notebooks to demonstrate the poet s resolve to face the facts to confront her own emotional intellectual and physical frailties and translate them into poetry that is clear eyed and economical in its form lombardi argues that in her subtle way bishop explores the same issues that preoccupy the current generation of women writers a deeply private artist bishop never directly refers to her homosexuality in her published work but the metaphors she draws from her carnal desires and aversions confront stifling cultural prescriptions for personal and erotic expression in choosing restraint over confession bishop parted company with her friend robert lowell but lombardi shows that her reticence becomes a powerful artistic strategy resulting in poetry remarkable for its hermeneutic potential informed by recent gender criticism lombardi s lucid argument advances our understanding of the ways the material circumstances of life can be transformed into art the literature on mass communication is now dominated by objective sociological approaches what makes the work of stephenson so unusual is his starting points his frank willingness to adopt a subjective and psychological approach to the study of mass communication in short this is an internal analysis of how communication processes are absorbed by individuals the theory of play is not a doctrine of frivolity but rather a way in which stephenson gets at such sensitive areas of communication theory as what is screened out and why without a notion of the play element in communication one would be led to imagine that every televised docudrama would be immediately lived out by every adolescent clearly this is not the case people can distinguish quite well between imaginary and real events in mass communication contexts the play theory of mass communication is a work that studies subjective play how communication serves the cause of self enhancement and personal pleasure and the role of entertainment as an end in itself in short for those who are tired of cliché ridden volumes on the political hidden messages and meanings of communication or the economic management of media decisions this volume will come as a refreshment a piece of entertainment as well as instruction but with all the emphasis on aspects stephenson's volume is shrewdly political he takes up themes ranging from the reduction of international tensions to the happily alienated worker to such pedestrian events as the reporting of foreign soviet dignitaries in their visits to democratic cultures this is in short an urbane wise book sophisticated in its methodology and critical in its theorizing this book analyzes recent artistic and activist projects in order to conceptualize the new roles and goals of a critical theory and practice of art and photography vered maimon argues that current artistic and activist practices are no longer concerned with the politics of representation and the critique of the spectacle but with a politics of rights and the performative formation of shared yet highly contested public domains the book thus offers a critical framework in which to rethink the artistic the activist and the political under globalization the primary focus is on the ways contemporary artists and activists examine political citizenship as a paradox where subjects are struggling to acquire rights whose formulation rests on attributes they allegedly don't have while the universal political validity of these rights presupposes precisely the abstraction of every form of difference rights for all the book will be of interest to scholars working in art history contemporary art photography theory visual culture cultural studies critical theory political theory human rights and activism at an international conference held in 1981 at the universidada estudual of campinas brazil a controversial lecture was given by john searle which presented two conceptual theses that conversation does not have an intrinsic structure about which a relevant theory can be formulated and that conversations are not subject to constitutive rules this lecture was first published in 1986 under the title notes on conversation and was revised several times afterwards the present volume offers the most recent version because of the importance of the article for conversation analysis and for pragmatics in general the editors have put together searle s target article along with eight original comments the volume closes with a reply to replies by searle in sociolinguistic studies intralingual code switching has been given less attention than most other areas and linguists attitudes towards the use of non standard varieties still often suffer from fallacies of prescriptivism czech a clear case of a language having a standard and a strong central vernacular with intensive shifting between them offers many points of general interest to sociolinguists this book reads a series of godard films as interventions in contemporary debate about the language of difference godard has something he wants both to preserve singularity and destroy visual and aural totalitarianism how is it possible to speak about the other how is it possible for the other to speak does all speaking about or by the other render that speaking common thereby rendering what is different identical these questions gather together a number of issues that cross and intersect disciplinary boundaries signification representation ethics politics and so on the problematics with which drabinski is concerned begin in the debate between levinas and derrida then later in dialogue with blanchot and irigaray to this extent godard is particularly well suited as an interlocutor godard s work especially in the 1970s is itself a self conscious form of philosophy his films theorize themselves produce a reflexive sound image language and so in many ways match the very essence of philosophy thought thinking thought still the medium of sound and image complicates any rendering of godard s work as philosophy godard produces a philosophically significant cinematic language rather than simply narrating or representing philosophical ideas in the medium of film and this language must be taken seriously in the context of the problem of difference for if difference is concerned with signification as such then the visual and aural retain equal rights with writing and all questions obtaining therein indeed if part of the problem of speaking about or by the other is how such speaking traffics in inscription then cinematic language is certainly an important and authentically complex intervention in that problem the nature of the debate in this project how the language of alterity is possible or impossible immediately breaks disciplinary borders between philosophy literary theory film studies and cultural studies what it means to engage with film in this context however is complicated to wit there are two standard treatments of film in philosophy film is typically either an example of a philosophical position or philosophy is used to interpret motifs characters plot lines etc in neither case is film engaged as a form of philosophizing itself that is as a language engaged with philosophical problematics it is articulating exactly this engagement that this book takes as its primary task the aim of the project is to read godard s work as primary texts with all the attention due the idiosyncratic language of those texts framed by the debate about difference and signification these primary texts register and resonate as transformative interventions the overarching argument of the book is that godard s conception and practice of cinematic language opens new important possibilities for thinking about radical alterity
