cleveland during the summer months of 1903 when typhoid fever being unusually prevalent in cleveland the wards of the lakeside hos pital contained many cases of this disease an attempt was made at first in the female ward alone to give much larger quantities than usual of water to drink to the fever patients to determine its effects on their comfort and condition the free use of water internally is of course accepted as important in the treatment of typhoid fever and it has been the custom in the hospital to see that a patient with this disease should have what was thought an abundant supply in the nursing directions three pints daily has been set as the least amount which such a patient should receive and besides the water given by the nurse a quart bowlful of ice water with a bent glass tube on a stand by the bed side has enabled the individual to help himself with a minimum of exertion the twenty four hour amount of urine always measured and charted has shown in most cases a daily record of from forty to fifty ounces during the time of the fever and this has been taken as a fair index of sufficient fluid ingestion about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works contributing authors include a bolliger f w hartman norman e clarke and many others this work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it this work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work this work is in the public domain in the united states of america and possibly other nations within the united states you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporation

The Small Community Hospital 2018-02-14 excerpt from the small community hospital a series of eight papers fewer than 12 percent of the sick people of this country are using the hospitals all the others are being taken care of in their own homes considering the fact that bedside diagnosis and drug treatment are pretty nearly obsolete and that modern diagnosis of disease is a question of the various hospital laboratories and that treatment has to do with diet physical therapy and good nursing it naturally follows that 88 percent of the people in this country who become sick are not getting the right sort of care consequently they are not getting well as promptly as they should and more of them are dying than should die and there is a far greater amount of suffering than there would be if everybody who was sick was getting proper and prompt attention about the publisher forgotten
