the brachytherapy process requires consistent reference dosimetry that is traceable to metrological primary standards and common procedures to be followed for reference dosimetry globally the code of practice is addressed to both secondary standards dosimetry laboratories and hospitals it fulfills the need for a systematic and internationally unified approach to the calibration and use of vented well type re-entrant ionisation chambers in determining the strength of brachytherapy sources with intensities measurable by such detectors the dosimetry formalism as well as common procedures for calibration reference dosimetry reference class instrument assessment and commissioning of the well type ionisation chamber system are provided

CODE OF PRACTICE (PICKETING) ORDER 2024 2024

the ground is one of the most highly variable of engineering materials it is therefore not surprising that geotechnical designs depend on local site conditions and local engineering experience engineering practices relating to investigation and design methods site understanding and to safety levels acceptable to society will therefore vary between different regions the challenge in geotechnical engineering is to make use of worldwide geotechnical experience established over many years to aid in the development and harmonization of geotechnical design codes given the significant uncertainties involved empiricism and engineering
