destruction an account of the lawyers who helped over centuries to develop and protect civil liberties human rights and the rule of law also discusses breaches of the rule of law in modern cases and in response to terrorism what can guilt the painful sting of the bad conscience tell us about who we are as human beings being guilty seeks to answer this guestion through an examination of the views of kant schelling schopenhauer paul rée nietzsche and heidegger on guilt freedom responsibility and conscience the concept of guilt has not received sufficient attention from scholars of the history of german philosophy being guilty addresses this lacuna and shows how the philosophers arguments can be more deeply grasped once read in their historical context a main claim of the book is that this history could be read as proceeding dialectically thus in kant schelling and schopenhauer we find variations on the idea that guilt is justified because the human agent is a free cause of his or her own being a causa sui and thus responsible for his or her ontological guilt in contrast in rée and nietzsche these ideas are rejected and the conclusion is reached that quilt is not justified but is explainable psychologically finally in heidegger we find a synthesis of sorts where the idea of causa sui is rejected but ontological guilt is retained and guilt is seen as possible because for heidegger a condition of possibility of guilt is that we are ontologically guilty yet not causa sui in the process of unfolding this trajectory the various philosophers views on these and many other issues are examined in detail jackman's sister in law sarah disappears to london and throws herself into the river what drove her to this she was a woman with a seemingly happy home life and two beloved sons di jackman and di evans dig into sarah s life and jackman realises he knew almost nothing about his sister in law s past then they discover a woman in a neighbouring village died in
