merle b turner earned degrees in psychology and philosophy at willamette university stanford university and the university of colorado boulder his phd thesis reported on experiments in perception which he found were paramount to ones preferences regarding friendship he realized that one s perception of another was the root of the forming and dissolving of friendships throughout his life but especially in the post war years as a student at stanford and the university of colorado as a professor at san diego state university and as an ocean cruiser on his sailboat he was led to observe himself his colleagues fellow adventurers and his family in the context of how friendships are made how they disintegrate and how alienation may occur following some critical incident he decided he could construct a model of friendship including the role of critical incidents which might be useful not only to himself but to others he presents his model in this book higher education is increasingly unable to engage usefully with global emergencies as its functions are repurposed for value discourses of entrepreneurship impact and excellence realised through competition and the market mean that academics and students are increasingly alienated from themselves and their work this book applies marx s concept of alienation to the realities of academic life in the global north in order to explore how the idea of public education is subsumed under the law of value in a landscape of increased commodification of higher education the book explores the relationship between alienation and crisis before analysing how academic knowledge work identity and life are themselves alienated finally it argues that through indignant struggle another world is possible grounded in alternative forms of organising life and producing socially useful knowledge ultimately requiring the abolition of academic labour this pioneering work will be of interest and value to all those working in the higher education sector as well as those concerned with the rise of neoliberalism and marketization within universities
