The Backroom Boy opens dramatically in China 1962 Andrew Mlangeni is one of a small select group undergoing military training there the unannounced visitor is Mao Tse Tung or Chairman Mao as he was known Chairman of the Communist Party of China Mlangeni was selected as one of the first ever six members who received military training in China before the formation of Umkhonto we Sizwe he seems to have been chosen because he was a dedicated intelligent and dependable operative rather than a leader even after his release after 25 years on Robben Island Mlangeni was not given a senior position in the post-apartheid democratic government I was always the backroom boy says Andrew Mlangeni about himself Andrew Mlangeni is a struggle stalwart Rivonia trialist and Robben Island prisoner 467/64 who was next door inmate to Nelson Mandela's acclaimed 466/64 prison number released after 26 years of incarceration he served as member of parliament and is Chairman of the ANC's Integrity Commission and founder of the June and Andrew Mlangeni Foundation with the passing of Ahmed Kathrada March 2017 Mlangeni 91 is one of only two Rivonia trialists still alive with Denis Goldberg while still at school Andrew Mlangeni joined the Communist Party of South Africa and also the ANC Youth League these were the organisations that shaped his values decades of resourceful activism were to lead to his arrest and life sentence in the Rivonia trial Mlangeni's lifelong commitment to the struggle for liberation reverberates with other biographies and memoirs of leading figures such as Rusty Bernstein's Memory Against Forgetting and Albie Sachs's We the People insights of an activist judge this story of an ANC elder is a well researched historical record overlaid with intensely personal reflections which intersect with the political narrative above all it is one man's story set in the maelstrom of the liberation struggle this biographical project has been developed for and published in conjunction with the June and Andrew Mlangeni Foundation

Working Papers in Southern African Studies 1983

the book is based on the view that the present trajectory of modern development cannot continue as it is now because it is ecologically unsustainable it continues to enlarge the gap between rich and poor and the decolonisation movement has drawn our attention again to the specific role of religion culture and value in human affairs and the need for a robust element of indigenisation and contextualisation this book is strongly focused on the context of africa with two chapters that are written by authors from the netherlands for the purpose of presenting a north south dialogue the book contains a reflection on approaches followed in building sustainable human communities in general and reflection on specific efforts to solve sustainability issues it seeks to integrate academic reflection and insights gained from practical involvement with sustainability issues in local communities and low income households with contributions from theology and natural and social sciences

these potatoes look like humans offers a unique understanding of the intersection between land labour dispossession and violence experienced by black south africans from the apartheid period to the present in this ground breaking book umbuso wenkosi criticises the historical framing of this debate within narrow materialist and legalistic arguments his assertion is that for most black south africans the meaning of land cannot be separated from one's spiritual and ancestral connection to it and this results in him seeing the dispossession of land in south africa with a perspective not yet explored wenkosi takes as his starting point the historic 1959 potato boycott in south africa which came about as a result of startling rumours that potatoes dug out of the soil from the farms in the bethal district of mpumalanga were in fact human heads journalists such as ruth first and henry nxumalo went to bethal to uncover these stories and revealed horrific accounts of abuse and routine killings of farmworkers by white afrikaners the workers were disenfranchised black people who were forced to work on these farms for alleged crimes against national party state laws such as the failure to carry passbooks in reading this violence from the perspectives of both the black worker and the white farmer wenkosi deploys the device of the eye to look at his research subjects and make sense of how the past informs the present his argument is that the violence against black farmworkers was not only on the exploitation of cheap labour but also an anxiety white farmers felt about their settler colonial appropriation of land this anxiety nkosi argues is pervasive in current heated public debates on the land question and calls for land expropriation without compensation furthermore the dispossession of black people from their land cannot be overcome until there is a recognition of the dead and restless spirits of the land and a spiritual return to home for black people's ancestors until such time the cycles of violence will persist this book will be of interest to academics and scholars working in the area of land and workers struggles but also to the general reader who wants to gain a deeper understanding of redress and social justice on multiple levels
