poetics and victorian novels to twentieth century fiction and film essay from the year 2012 in the subject english language and literature studies literature grade 1 7 christian albrechts university of kiel language english abstract in the year 1975 the french feminist author helene cixous published an essay called the laugh of the medusa in it she develops an entirely new theoretical concept with the aim of giving rise to feminist voice the central ideas of ecriture feminine literally women s writing are going to be presented in this paper in the first part a brief description of cixous s intellectual milieu is given in order to show the actual reason that led her to come up with a new notion of liberating women from patriarchy in this context an elaboration on poststructuralism the philosophical current cixous belonged to follows closely related to that is the authors skepticism towards sigmund freud s language philosophy specifically speaking freud s statements on the penis envy theory primary attention is paid to the theory of phallocentrism which can be seen as one of the main reasons for cixous s writings for a better understanding of this term the concept of logocentrism is also explained as well logocentrism can be seen as a pillar of the theory of phallocentrism and therefore it deserves to be mentioned at this point in the second part we deal with the question of what is actually meant by women s writing furthermore we will analyze which role the female body and sexuality plays in this context this excursion is highly interesting as it is crucial for the understanding of her concept since the female body is considered a key for women to resist masculinist thinking and hence the systematic repression of women apart from that we try to show whether features of ecriture feminine are evident in the the laugh of the medusa moreover a different viewpoint on cixous s theory is shown in the chapter criticism in which arguments for and against her theory are shown in point five conclusion the main aspects of this paper are summed up when writing this paper the main source of information were essays on women s writing and french feminist writing dating from 1987 to 1986 besides secondary literature on literary and cultural theory as well as feminist practice and poststructuralist theory were used

recent research on cixous s work however could not be found the only source dealing particularly with her writings dates from 1991 seminar paper from the year 2009 in the subject american studies literature grade 1 3 ernst moritz arndt university of greifswald course north american short stories language english abstract edgar allan poe s name is related to the american short story like none other in the history of american literature while washington irving is commonly seen as the creator of the short story edgar allan poe is regarded as the first to have realised its potential and the first to have created an aesthetical theory of the short story this theory though especially poe s depiction of the skilful artist and his her perfect way of creating art gave rise to many heated discussions which strongly shaped the image of poe thus he is likely to be seen as the cold blooded emotionally unaffected author who creates art on demand contriving compositions with an unparalleled precision and brilliancy many critics therefore rather based their criticism on the life and the person of edgar allan poe instead of his contributions to the development of literature this work strictly wants to avoid to draw any populist parallels between the author poe and the person poe the first part of this term paper therefore deals with poe s literary theory as such i will focus mainly on poe s major concerns of effect and the genres of poetry and prose furthermore i will pose the question what is the actual matter of poe s theory is it a profound concept or just a vague and hasty response to emerson s the poet with the mere purpose of provoking his contemporaries and thus to get attention since the formulation of a theory always raises the question of its applicability especially on the part of its originator the second part will scrutinise to what extent edgar allan poe stuck to his own principles is there a discrepancy between theory and practice in the work of edgar allan poe and if so how can this be explained his short story the fall of the house of usher will provide the paradigm as it is in general and even by poe himself considered one of his masterpieces it is not the intention of said scrutiny to develop an overall interpretation of the story furthermore the presented conclusions drawn from the story s symbolism do not claim exclusiveness they rather present possible ways of reading next to which other perspectives can coexist with just the same plausibility the paper age is the phrase coined by thomas carlyle in 1837 to describe the monetary and literary inflation of the french revolution an age of mass produced bank paper and book paper carlyle s phrase is suggestive because it points to the particular substance paper that provides the basis for reflection on the mass media in much popular fiction appearing around the time of his historical essay rather than becoming a metaphor however paper in some of this fiction seems to display the more complex and elusive character of what walter benjamin evocatively calls the decline of the aura the critical perspective elaborated by benjamin serves as the point of departure for the readings of paper proposed in paperwork kevin mclaughlin argues for a literary critical approach to the impact of the mass media on literature through a series of detailed interpretations of paper in fiction by poe stevenson melville dickens and hardy in this fiction he argues paper dramatizes the withdrawal as benjamin puts it of the here and now of the traditional work of art into the dispersing or distracting movement of the mass media paperwork seeks to challenge traditional concepts of medium and message that continue to inform studies of print culture and the mass media especially in the wake of industrialized production in the early nineteenth century it breaks new ground in the exploration of the difference between mass culture and literature and will appeal to cultural historians and literary critics alike paper is older than the printing press and even in its unprinted state it was the great network medium behind the emergence of modern civilization in the shape of bills banknotes and accounting books it was indispensable to the economy as forms and files it was essential to bureaucracy as letters it became the setting for the invention of the modern soul and as newsprint it became a stage for politics in this brilliant new book lothar müller describes how paper made its way from china through the arab world to europe where it permeated everyday life in a variety of formats from the thirteenth century onwards and how the paper technology revolution of the nineteenth century paved the way for the creation of the modern daily press his key witnesses are the works of rabelais and grimmelshausen balzac and herman melville james joyce and paul valéry müller writes not only about books however he also writes about pamphlets playing cards papercutting and legal pads we think we understand the gutenber era but we can understand it better when we explore the world that underpinned it the paper age today with the proliferation of digital devices paper may seem to be a residue of the past but müller shows that the humble technology of paper is in many ways the most fundamental medium of the modern world this compilation of five research articles served as a reader for research and literary enthusiasts the materials are various literary genres from prose and poetry as well as prose narratives the articles utilized various theories and approaches focused on identifying cultural aspects the first article identified culture as an inherent factor in addressing the questions of gender roles in philippine fiction it employed gadamer s hermeneutics to discuss the binary opposition of marriage and infidelity faithfulness and unfaithfulness along with its implication to the couple and the society in general the second article intended to unravel reasons behind the strange affection of the millennials to the literary works with deformed characters or scary themes this paper used a descriptive qualitative type of research anchored on the theories of the grotesque it was used as an analytical tool to present the motives behind the millennial s allure to the literary materials with scary or deformed characters the third article employed qualitative descriptive approach of literary criticism anchored on the theory of new historicism and formalist contextualist approach the findings revealed that the poems are good sources of information about the image of the places in terms of physical and cultural milieu moreover the fourth article focused on the study of legends as prose narratives the paper attempted to study the classification structure and themes of the legends of sorsogon city and their variants the results emphasized the difference between the prose narratives from fiction having its own distinct elements through an interpretative type of literary criticism which was validated using the parameters of manuel s vertical and horizontal tests the last article considered water as both material and non material culture of the community it focused on the anthropological approach that deals with water utilization valuation and perspectives on water safety of the residents thematic analysis was employed from the informants in depth interviews this paper found out that the socio economic aspect of the community was affected by the availability of water water use and how people value water it is therefore hoped that through this compilation of articles on culture more scholars may develop the love of one s culture this book gives students an answer to the question what does my professor want from this essay in lively direct language it explains the process of creating a clearly written argument based on evidence about the meaning power or structure of a literary work using a single poem by william carlos williams as the basis for the process of writing a paper about a piece of literature it walks students through the processes of reading brainstorming researching secondary sources gathering evidence and composing and editing the paper writing essays about literature is designed to strengthen argumentation skills and deepen understanding of the relationships between the reader the author the text and critical interpretations its lessons about clarity precision and the importance of providing evidence will have wide relevance for student writers outlining the controversies that have surrounded the academic discipline of english literature since its institutionalization in the late nineteenth century this important book draws on a range of archival sources it addresses issues that are central to the identity of academic english how the subject came into existence and what makes it a specialist discipline of knowledge in a manner that illuminates many of the crises that have affected the development of modern english studies atherton also addresses contemporary arguments about the teaching of literary criticism including an examination of the reforms to a level literature william h gass one of america s most brilliant and eclectic minds examines literature culture writers and the nature and uses of language and the written word henry james renowned as one of the world s great novelists was also one of the most essay from the year 2020 in the subject literature comparative literature language english abstract in this paper the development of literary criticism from ancient greece to the british period will be examined the periods will be considered in light of the perspectives and works of major philosophers and critics towards literary criticism literary criticism is a disciplined activity that attempts to describe study analyse justify interpret and evaluate a work of art it is argued that formal literary criticism has begun after the evaluation of aristophanes play the frogs in ancient greece in the 400s bc this situation is not accidental because the greeks of the period are a nation that is hand in glove with the philosophy that puts thinking at the centre the concept of thinking in ancient greece does not lose its vitality in any artistic activity neither written nor visual due to their curiosity and desire for knowledge as a result it is inevitable that world famous philosophers such as plato and aristotle are growing up in ancient greece literary criticism has taken its place in the literature of almost all nations for centuries since the 5th century bc and still it continues to develop this criticism culture ongoing from the past has been one of the main factors in the shaping of english literature to this day why buy our paperbacks expedited shipping high quality paper made in usa standard font size of 10 for all books 30 days money back guarantee beware of low quality sellers don't buy cheap paperbacks just to save a few dollars most of them use low quality papers binding their pages fall off easily some of them even use very small font size of 6 or less to increase their profit margin it makes their books completely unreadable how is this book unique unabridged 100 original content font adjustments biography included illustrated an essay on criticism by alexander pope an essay on criticism was the first major poem written by the english writer alexander pope 1688 1744 however despite the title the poem is not as much an original analysis as it is a compilation of pope's various literary opinions a reading of the poem makes it clear that he is addressing not so much the ingenuous reader as the intending writer it is written in a type of rhyming verse called heroic couplets the poem first appeared in 1711 but was written in 1709 it is clear from pope's correspondence that many of the poem's ideas had existed in prose form since at least 1706 it is a verse essay written in the horatian mode and is primarily concerned with how writers and critics behave in the new literary commerce of pope's contemporary age the poem covers a range of good criticism and advice it also represents many of the chief literary ideals of pope's age pope contends in the poem's opening couplets that bad criticism does greater harm than bad writing 'tis hard to say if greater want of skill appear in writing or in judging ill but of the two less dangerous is the offence to tire our patience than mislead our sense some few in that but numbers err in this ten censures wrong for one who writes amiss a fool might once himself alone expose now one in verse makes many more in prose essay from the year 2012 in the subject english language and literature studies literature grade 1 7 christian albrechts university of kiel language english abstract in the year 1975 the french feminist author helene cixous published an essay called the laugh of the medusa in it she develops an entirely new theoretical concept with the aim of giving rise to feminist voice the central ideas of ecriture feminine literally women s writing are going to be presented in this paper in the first part a brief description of cixous s intellectual milieu is given in order to show the actual reason that led her to come up with a new notion of liberating women from patriarchy in this context an elaboration on poststructuralism the philosophical current cixous belonged to follows closely related to that is the authors skepticism towards sigmund freud s language philosophy specifically speaking freud s statements on the penis envy theory primary attention is paid to the theory of phallogentrism which can be seen as one of the main reasons for cixous s writings for a better understanding of this term the concept of logocentrism is also explained as well logocentrism can be seen as a pillar of the theory of phallogentrism and therefore it deserves to be mentioned at this point in the second part we deal with the question of what is actually meant by women s writing furthermore we will analyze which role the female body and sexuality plays in this context this excursion is highly interesting as it is crucial for the understanding of her concept since the female body is considered a key for women to resist masculinist thinking and hence the systematic repression of women apart from that we try to show whether features of ecriture feminine are evident in the the laugh of the medusa moreover a different viewpoint on cixous s theory is shown in the chapter criticism in which arguments for and against her theory are shown in point five conclusion the main aspects of this paper are summed up when writing this paper the main source of information were essays on women s writing and french feminist writing dating from 1987 to 1986 besides secondary literature on literary and cultural theory as well as feminist practice and poststructuralist theory were used recent research on cixous s work however could not be found the only source dealing particularly with her writings dates from 1991 seminar paper from the year 2009 in the subject american studies literature grade 1 3 ernst moritz arndt university of greifswald course north american short stories language english abstract edgar allan poe s name is related to the american short story like none other in the history of american literature while washington irving is commonly seen as the creator of the short story edgar allan poe is regarded as the first to have realised its potential and the first to have created an aesthetical theory of the short story this theory though especially poe s depiction of the skilful artist and his her perfect way of creating art gave rise to many heated discussions which strongly shaped the image of poe thus he is likely to be seen as the cold blooded emotionally unaffected author who creates art on demand contriving compositions with an unparalleled precision and brilliancy many critics therefore rather based their criticism on the life and the person of edgar allan poe instead of his contributions to the development of literature this work strictly wants to avoid to draw any populist parallels between the author poe and the person poe the first part of this term paper therefore deals with poe s literary theory as such i will focus mainly on poe s major concerns of effect and the genres of poetry and prose furthermore i will pose the question what is the actual matter of poe s theory is it a profound concept or just a vague and hasty response to emerson s the poet with the mere purpose of provoking his contemporaries and thus to get attention since the formulation of a theory always raises the question of its applicability especially on the part of its originator the second part will scrutinise to what extent edgar allan poe stuck to his own principles is there a discrepancy between theory and practice in the work of edgar allan poe and if so how can this be explained his short story the fall of the house of usher will provide the paradigm as it is in general and even by poe himself considered one of his masterpieces it is not the intention of said scrutiny to develop an overall interpretation of the story furthermore the presented conclusions drawn from the story s symbolism do not claim exclusiveness they rather present possible ways of reading next to which other perspectives can coexist with just the same plausibility bureaucracy as letters it became the setting for the invention of the modern soul and as newsprint it became a stage for politics in this brilliant new book lothar müller describes how paper made its way from china through the arab world to europe where it permeated everyday life in a variety of formats from the thirteenth century onwards and how the paper technology revolution of the nineteenth century paved the way for the creation of the modern daily press his key witnesses are the works of rabelais and grimmelshausen balzac and herman melville james joyce and paul valéry müller writes not only about books however he also writes about pamphlets playing cards papercutting and legal pads we think we understand the guttenberg era but we can understand it better when we explore the world that underpinned it the paper age today with the proliferation of digital devices paper may seem to be a residue of the past but müller shows that the humble technology of paper is in many ways the most fundamental medium of the modern world
