International Classification of Functioning, Disability and Health (ICF) is a classification system for health and disability. It is a framework for understanding the interaction between health, disability, and social context. The ICF is used by health professionals, researchers, and policymakers to describe and measure health and disability. The ICF is a dynamic system that changes over time and across cultures. It is a tool for understanding the complexity of health and disability and for developing interventions to improve health and disability outcomes.
