Chambers's Journal of Popular Literature, Science and Arts 2015 first used to describe the weariness the public felt toward media portrayals of societal crises the term compassion fatigue has been taken up by health professionals to name along with burnout vicarious traumatization compassion stress and secondary traumatic stress the condition of caregivers who become too tired to care compassion long seen as the foundation of ethical caring is increasingly understood as a threat to the well being of those who offer it through the lens of hermeneutic phenomenology the authors present an insider s perspective on compassion fatigue its effects on the body on the experience of time and space and on personal and professional relationships accounts of health professionals alongside examinations of poetry images movies and literature are used to explore the notions of compassion hope and hopelessness as they inform the meaning of caring work the authors frame their exposé of compassion fatigue with the very canadian metaphor of lying down in the snow if suffering is imagined as ever falling snow then the need for training and resources for safe journeying in winter country becomes apparent recognizing the phenomenon of compassion fatigue reveals the role that health services education and the moral habitability of our healthcare environments play in supporting professionals ability to act compassionately and to endure
