Mother Knows 2004-04-20 who of us cannot remember the pain and humiliation of being rejected by our classmates however thick skinned or immune to such assaults we may become as adults the memory of those early exclusions is as palpable to each of us today as it is common to human experience we remember the uncertainty of separating from our home and entering school as strangers and more than the relief of making friends we recall the cruel moments of our own isolation as well as those children we knew were destined to remain strangers in this book Vivian Paley employs a unique strategy to probe the moral dimensions of the classroom she departs from her previous work by extending her analysis to children through the fifth grade all the while weaving remarkable fairy tale into her narrative description Paley introduces a new rule you can't say you can't play to her kindergarten classroom and solicits the opinions of older children regarding the fairness of such a rule we hear from those who are rejected as well as those who do the rejecting one child objecting to the rule says it will be fairer but how are we going to have any fun another child defends the principle of classroom bosses as a more benign way of excluding the unwanted in a brilliant twist Paley mixes fantasy and reality and introduces a new voice into the debate Magpie a magical bird who brings lonely people to a place where a full share of the sun is rightfully theirs myth and morality begin to proclaim the same message and the schoolhouse will be the crucible in which the new order is tried a struggle ensues and even the Magpie stories cannot avoid the scrutiny of this merciless pack of social philosophers who will not be easily caught in a morality tale you can't say you can't play speaks to some of our most deeply held beliefs is exclusivity part of human nature can we legislate fairness and still nurture creativity and individuality can children be freed from the habit of rejection these are some of the questions the answers are to be found in the words of Paley's schoolchildren and in the wisdom of their teacher who respectfully listens to them

"Ten Days Mission," January, 1875. The Twenty Sermons Preached in St. Margaret's Church, Brighton, and in the Dome of the Royal Pavilion ... Reported Verbatim ... and Revised by the Preacher. (Third Edition.). 1876 considers the national and international ramifications of U.S. abm deployment and its effects on salt talks with the Soviet Union

A Letter to Mr. Aikman, in Reply to His Work, "Judgment of the Judges of Jehovah." 1876 each person will feel things their own way each person will hurt the only way they know how will love the only way they've been taught to love not everyone will see things the way you do feel things the way you do and you can't force your beliefs on people either because that's not love that's not having compassion for other people we all have our own right to see the world with our own eyes therefore understanding is key and i don t mean saying it saying you understand someone without putting yourself in their shoes without respecting their views you have to really know yourself and your environment to understand why people are the way they are you have to go through enough pain to keep your heart open to be compassionate towards other people understanding is key and not everyone will understand you and that s okay but the point is to remember how all of us are different and try to understand that not all of us are meant to be the same and you should never believe you understand it all because believe me there will always be something to learn there will always be something that will take your breath away something that will make you question everything your own beliefs and your own way of thinking people things and places like life are always evolving and you must evolve with them if you ever want a fair shot in accepting your flaws and the flaws of other people and before i finish i just want you to know that the beauty of it all is this the more you understand people the better you will understand yourself from the known and to the depths of your soul people will always shape you all that you are is all you ve experienced with them and dont ever forget that the people you love will always have a piece of your heart they will always be with you no matter what
