Geography and Trade 2015-09-24

i have spent my whole professional life as an international economist thinking and writing about economic geography without being aware of it begins paul krugman in the readable and anecdotal style that has become a hallmark of his writings krugman observes that his own shortcomings in ignoring economic geography have been shared by many professional economists primarily because of the lack of explanatory models in geography and trade he provides a stimulating synthesis of ideas in the literature and describes new models for implementing a study of economic geography that could change the nature of the field economic theory usually assumes away distance krugman argues that it is time to put it back that the location of production in space is a key issue both within and between nations

The Conscience of a Liberal 2006

in the conscience of a liberal paul krugman one of the us s most respected economists and outspoken commentators lays out his vision of a new deal for a fairer society after the second world war it seemed that in the west society was gradually becoming more equal welfare states had been established in many countries there was a general reduction in income inequality and in america franklin d roosevelt s new deal seemed to ensure strong democratic values and broadly shared prosperity so what went wrong why in the past thirty years has the gap between the poor and the super rich become such a gulf why are we so disillusioned with the political system and what can be done about this huge economic inequality and bitter polarization krugman argues that the time is ripe for another era of great reform here he outlines a programme for change explaining what can be done to narrow the wealth gap and he shows how a new political coalition can both support and be supported by reform making our society not just more equal but more democratic the conscience of a liberal promises to reshape public debate and become a touchstone work
