Kodály Today provides teachers with a step by step road map for developing children's performance creative movement and literacy skills in an organic and thoughtful manner through six years of field testing with music teachers in the United States Great Britain and Hungary the home country of Zoltán Kodály. Authors Micheál Houlihan and Philip Tacka have developed a methodology specifically for 21st century classrooms. Houlihan and Tacka use the latest research findings in cognition and perception to create a system not only appropriate for children's developmental stages but also one which integrates vertically between elementary music classes. The methods outlined in this volume encourage greater musical ability and creativity in children by teaching students to sing move play instruments and develop music literacy skills. In addition, Kodály Today promotes critical thinking problem solving and collaboration skills. Although the book uses the Kodály philosophy its methodology has also been tested by teachers certified in Orff and Dalcroze and has proven an essential guide for teachers no matter what their personal philosophy and specific training might be. The new edition of Kodály Today provides a fully revised and updated core text as well as entirely new chapters on the application of the Kodály method to the elementary choir and the use of technology in the Kodály classroom. In addition the revisions integrate it fully with the Kodály Today and the Graded Kodály Today K-5 Handbooks series. Feature methodology and sequential lesson plans specifically developed for the 21st century they are sure to be an essential guide for music teachers everywhere. From back cover.

In this book author Cathy Benedict challenges and reframes traditional ways of addressing many of the topics we have come to think of as social justice offering practical suggestions for helping both teachers and students think philosophically and thus critically about the world around them. Each chapter engages with important themes through music making and learning as it presents scenarios examples of dialogue with students unit ideas and lesson plans geared toward elementary students ages 6-14. Taken for granted subjects often considered beyond the understanding of elementary students such as friendship racism poverty religion and class are addressed and interrogated in such a way that honours the voice and critical thinking of the elementary student. Suggestions are given that help both teachers and students to pause reflect and redirect dialogue with questions that uncover bias misinformation and misunderstandings that too often stand in the way of coming to know and embracing difference. Guiding questions which anchor many curricular mandates are used throughout in order to scaffold critical and reflective thinking beginning in the earliest grades of elementary music education. Where does social justice reside whose voice is being heard and whose is being silenced how do we come to think of and construct poverty how is it that musics become used the way they are used what happens to songs initially intended for socially driven purposes when their significance is undermined these questions and more are explored encouraging music teachers to embrace a path toward socially just engagements at the elementary and middle school levels
