Alexander Potts and Reva Wolf: The discipline of art history is in a moment of self-consciousness and art historians are increasingly more self-reflexive about their practices. In this volume, thirteen authors address both the philosophical and practical issues now facing those in the visual arts field by investigating the ever pressing issue of research. Their essays explore the remarkable nature of art historians' personal, political, aesthetic, creative, and emotive curiosity and the process of doing research in the archive, library, studio, gallery, museum, and beyond. As such, the book considers the pleasures and dangers of researchers' obsessions and encounters with the incoherence, chaos, and wonder that lie at the heart of searching for the not yet known. The volume is based on the 2007 Clark Conference of the same name, distributed for the Sterling and Francine Clark Art Institute.

40 Years

Featuring chapters by a diverse range of leading international artists and theorists, this book suggests that contemporary art is increasingly characterized by the problem of where and when it is situated. While much advanced artistic speculation of the twentieth century was aligned with the question 'what is art?', a key question for many artists and thinkers in the twenty-first century has become 'where is art?'. Contributors explore the challenge of meaningfully identifying and evaluating works located across multiple versions and locations in space and time. In doing so, they also seek to find appropriate language and criteria for evaluating forms of art that often straddle other realms of knowledge and activity. The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history, contemporary art, art criticism, and philosophy of art.

robert irwin who is one of the most important artists of this era was a seminal figure in light and space art he began as an abstract expressionist painter in the 1950s and was for some time but is no longer an artist who produced no art objects irwin s philosophical and aesthetic theories are so far reaching that only now some twenty years after they were first posited has the art world begun to recognize that his questions about perception come to bear upon the definition of art itself in the 1960s his disc paintings succeeded in breaking the edge of the canvas with the resultant effect that the space surrounding the work became equally important in the 1970s irwin created room environment pieces of a phenomenal or non object nature across the united states comprised solely of light string or nylon scrim these works placed the responsibility upon the viewer in order to bring him to a position where he could perceive himself perceiving the mondrian was no longer on the wall the viewer was in the mondrian in the last ten years irwin s sculptural aesthetic and his philosophical theories have merged to provide the impetus behind a major body of sculpture created in response to a specific site situation or locale irwin s importance as an artist lies not only in the beauty and clarity of his precedent setting work but in his theoretical contribution which provides a framework by which all phenomenal works can be examined this book written by the artist lays out his theoretical position and documents the working processes behind seventeen major sculpture projects created over the past decade from dust jacket the author's birth in Warren, Ohio, Carl Schmitt (1889-1989) produced hundreds of paintings from landscape and still life to portraits of his wife and nine children as well as poets, artists, and Marian and religious themes. His over 500 works painted in the U.S. and Europe are scattered through museums from the National Gallery in Washington, DC to private collections worldwide. His paintings were executed with extreme precision to present art as an expression of the beauty that lies within all creation. He was a man of deep faith, a lifelong Catholic who saw God in everything he studied and drew.

Art Apart

Since its beginning nearly one hundred fifty years ago, the Metropolitan Museum of Art has been a vital center for the display and collection of the art of its time as the repository of an encyclopedic collection spanning five thousand years and myriad regions. The Met presents modern and contemporary art in a richly suggestive context. This beautifully illustrated volume, like the museum's galleries, gathers paintings, sculptures, photographs, decorative arts, drawings, and works in other media by celebrated artists of the twentieth and twenty-first centuries, juxtaposing them to suggest historical antecedents and evolving cultural practices. From acknowledged masterworks by Arbus, Brancusi, Duchamp, Gris, Hepworth, Hopper, Léger, Nevelson, O'Keefe, Picasso, Pollock, Rivera, Steichen, and Warhol to important newer works by El Anatsui, Mark Bradford, Vija Celmins, David Hammons, William Kentridge, Kerry James Marshall, Richard Serra, Cindy Sherman, Thomas Struth, and Kara Walker, this book delves into the magnificent modern holdings of a beloved museum. p 1
