gender oppression has been a feature of war and conflict throughout human history yet until fairly recently little attention was devoted to addressing the consequences of violence and discrimination experienced by women in post conflict states thankfully that is changing today in a variety of post conflict settings the former yugoslavia afghanistan colombia northern ireland international advocates for women s rights have focused bringing issues of sexual violence discrimination and exclusion into peace making processes in on the frontlines fionnuala ni aolain dina francesca haynes and naomi cahn consider such policies in a range of cases and assess the extent to which they have had success in improving women s lives they argue that there has been too little success and that this is in part a product of a focus on schematic policies like straightforward political incorporation rather than a broader and deeper attempt to alter the cultures and societies that are at the root of much of the violence and exclusions experienced by women they contend that this broader approach would not just benefit women however gender mainstreaming and increased gender equality has a direct correlation with state stability and functions to preclude further conflict if we are to have any success in stabilizing failing states gender needs to move to fore of our efforts with this in mind they examine the efforts of transnational organizations states and civil society in multiple jurisdictions to place gender at the forefront of all post conflict processes they offer concrete analysis and practical solutions to ensuring gender centrality in all aspects of peace making and peace enforcement the attack on the wood had begun soon after dawn and it was no more than 8 a m when the corporal was dropped badly wounded in the advance line of the attack where it had penetrated about four hundred yards into the wood but it was well into afternoon before he sufficiently woke to his surroundings to understand where he was or what had happened and when he did so he found the realisation sufficiently unpleasant it was plain from several indications the direction from which the shells bursting in his vicinity were coming a glimpse of some wounded germans retiring the echoing rattle of rifle fire and crash of bombs behind him that the battalion had been driven back as half a dozen other battalions had been driven back in the course of the ebb and flow fighting through the wood for a couple of weeks past that he was lying badly wounded and helpless to defend himself where the germans could pick him up as a prisoner or finish him off with a saw backed bayonet as the mood of his discoverers turned his left leg was broken below the knee his right shoulder and ribs ached intolerably a scalp wound six inches long ran across his head from side to side a wound that thanks to the steel shrapnel helmet lying dented in deep across the crown had not split his head open to the teeth
