Argument of E. C. Seaman 1844 controversies may be particularly prominent in one or another culture yet there is hardly any culture where they do not exist this book assumes that the practice of controversy along with its theorization constitutes in each of the cultures and disciplines where it develops a tradition whether there are enough shared elements in these traditions to consider them as fundamentally universal or not is something that can only be determined on the basis of a rich sample of controversies and theorizations thereof belonging to different traditions this is what this volume provides to the reader by presenting side by side controversies from the east and from the west from the ancient past up to the present from different domains of scholarship and action the reader is in a position not only to admire the widespread nature role and richness of the phenomenon but also to begin to evaluate its variety as well as universality while the editors have purposefully avoided comparative studies of traditions of controversy in order to focus on each tradition so to speak from its practitioners point of view some of the chapters take a bird s eye view and exemplify how such studies can be systematically conducted in a world that is globalizing itself at a fast pace the awareness of the multiplicity of traditions of controversy is fundamental for ensuring both that the integration of the various perspectives is harmonious and that each one of them is granted its place in a plural universe

Cases Adjudicated 1890 the third volume in the vargreb series explores different aspects of varying argument realization in baltic it presents original studies on differential marking of both core and non core verbal arguments on argument structures of nouns and the encoding of nominal arguments as well as on constructions reflecting the expansion of argument structure through the addition of causative resultative or applicative predications the discussion of phenomena of argument realization and marking often touches on fundamental problems of syntax and the syntax semantics interface such as the putative locality of case assignment event structural factors determining case marking the inheritance of argument structure across phrase types or the status of arguments and adjuncts the contributions to this volume use different approaches and frameworks to analyze a wealth of authentic data from contemporary latvian and lithuanian

Traditions of Controversy 2007-11-21 this book examines the hypothesis of direct compositionality which requires that semantic interpretation proceed in tandem with syntactic combination although associated with the dominant view in formal semantics of the 1970s and 1980s the feasibility of direct compositionality remained unsettled and more recently the discussion as to whether or not this view can be maintained has receded the syntax semantics interaction is now often seen as a process in which the syntax builds representations which at the abstract level of logical form are sent for interpretation to the semantics component of the language faculty in the first extended discussion of the hypothesis of direct compositionality for twenty years this book considers whether its abandonment might have been premature and whether in fact direct compositionality is not after all a simpler and more effective conception of the grammar than the conventional account of the syntax semantics interface in generative grammar it contains contributions from both sides of the debate locates the debate in the setting of a variety of formal theories and draws on examples from a range of languages and a range of empirical phenomena

Argument Realization in Baltic 2016-01-21 in its classical form the study of argumentation focuses on human oriented uses of argument such as whether an argument is legitimate or flawed engagement in debate or the rhetorical aspects of argumentation in recent decades however the study of logic and computational models of argumentation has emerged as a growing sub area of ai this book presents the seventh international conference on computational models of argument comma 18 held in warsaw poland from 12 to 14 september 2018 since its inception in 2006 the conference and its related activities have developed alongside the steady growth of interest in computational argumentation worldwide and the selection of 25 full papers and 17 short papers out of a total of 70 submissions and 15 demonstration abstracts included here reflect the broad multidisciplinary nature of argumentation and the increasing body of work which establishes the relevance of computational models to various disciplines and real world applications subjects covered include algorithm development innovative applications argument mining argumentation based models of dialogue abstract argument frameworks and structured argumentation representing an overview of current developments in the field this book will appeal to all those with an interest in computational models of argument
