it is a great pleasure to offer this volume from michael j nakkula karen c foster marc mannes and shenita bolstrom as the latest in the search institute series on developmentally attentive community and society its importance to the series and this eld of inquiry and practice is readily evident in its title building healthy communities for positive youth development since the early 1990s search institute has invited and encouraged communities of all shapes and sizes to use its framework of developmental assets and principles of asset building to create strong vibrant and welcoming communities for children and youth we have operated largely at the grassroots level encouraging innovation and adaptation around a shared vision rather than proposing a program or model for replication we seek to learn as much from the communities as they learn from us this book offers in depth case studies of what happened in eight diverse c munities that took up our invitation in them we see a wide array of strategies and approaches that on the surface seem to have little coherence but as nakkula and colleagues found underlying each of these distinct efforts was a deep commitment to transforming the social norms of community life to more effectively attend to young people's healthy development throughout the first two decades of life there have been many ambitious efforts aimed at comprehensive community change on behalf of young people the book describes two similar and successful models of youth mentoring used by two acclaimed urban high schools that have consistently achieved exceptional graduation rates providing a detailed description of their methods based upon extensive observation and interviews with teachers students administrators and parents this book makes a major contribution to the debate on how to reduce the achievement gap using similar teacher as youth mentor and youth advising models these two inner city schools fenway high school in boston massachusetts and the kedma school in jerusalem have broken the cycle of failure for the student populations they serve children from underrepresented groups living in poverty in troubled neighborhoods with few resources students in both schools have excelled academically rarely dropout and progress to college in significant numbers fenway has 90 graduation rate with 95 of graduates going on to college kedma outperforms comparable urban schools by a factor of four both schools have won numerous awards with fenway high school gaining pilot school status in massachusetts a recognition the state only awards to a few exemplary schools and kedma school being declared one of the 50 most influential educational endeavors in israel the success of both schools is directly attributable to their highly developed teacher as a youth mentor programs that embody an ideology and mission that put students at the center of their programs and structures the models are closely integrated with the curriculum and support the social emotional cultural and academic needs of students as well as develop close mentor student parent relationships the model furthermore includes extensive support for the mentors themselves apart from the potential of these models to narrow the achievement gap these two schools have a record of creating a school climate that promotes safety and reduces the incidence of bullying and violence at the heart of both programs is creating community between departments and functions in the school and between teachers staff students and parents everyone in the school system should read this book research suggests that caring relationships between students and teachers significantly enhance social emotional learning sel defined as the process through which children develop their ability to integrate thinking feeling and behaving to achieve important life tasks which is recognized as an important factor in children s success in school however caring schools are usually the exception especially at the secondary level where relationships between students and teachers seem to deteriorate significantly this book provides a schoolwide model for establishing caring secondary schools and enhancing sel using a teacher as a youth mentor model
