The Self-Revelation of God

2013-09

this historic book may have numerous typos and missing text purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher not indexed not illustrated 1886 edition excerpt chapter xiii god revealed as personal spirit in the constitution and history of man we now proceed from the physical system to the spiritual to ascertain what additional evidence that the absolute being is the personal god may be found in the constitution and history of man i god revealed as personal spirit in the existence of personal beings from the existence of personal beings we rightly infer that the absolute being must be a rational and personal being on the principle that the cause must be adequate to the effect man knows himself and his fellow men as personal beings in discussing man s capacity to know god it was shown that personality in its essence is supernatural if the line dividing nature from the supernatural runs between finite beings and god as many theologians assume then man is shut up in the physical or natural and excluded from any participation in the spiritual or supernatural and from all knowledge of god or of any spiritual or supernatural reality but theism does not admit any such rift between god and the universe any such gulf which thought itself cannot pass over to find god it is of the essence of theism that it declares the union and communion of god and man the philosophical basis of this is the fact that the line of distinction between nature and the supernatural is the line of distinction between rational and free personal beings and the irrational and impersonal thus man is at once participant in nature and the supernatural and has in experience contents for the knowledge of both 1 he is the bond of union between the natural and the supernatural in him the law of continuity reaches unbroken from the spiritual into the physical and they are knit together in one all comprehending gay marriage has become the most important domestic social issue facing twenty first century americans particularly americans of faith most christians are pro marriage and hold traditional family values but should they endorse extending marriage rights to gays and lesbians if jesus enjoined us to love our neighbors as ourselves and the homosexual is our neighbor does that mean we should accept and bless gay marriages these and other related questions are tearing many faith based communities apart across the country states have voted courts have debated and churches have divided over the legitimacy of same sex marriage amid the uproar one perspective is decidedly missing that of thoughtful pro marriage christians who informed by their faith are struggling to make sense of this issue what god has joined together is an effort to bridge the divide between marriage supporting and gay supporting people of faith by showing why both sides have important things to say and showing how both sides can coexist drawing on scientific research as well as on the bible the authors explain that marriage is emotionally physically financially and spiritually beneficial for everyone not just heterosexuals they debunk myths about sexual orientation assess claims of sexual reorientation and explore what the bible does and does not say about same sex relationships the book ends with a persuasive case for gay marriage and outlines how this can be a win win solution for all the central thesis of this book is that the most urgent thing in our generation is the emergence in the church of men and women who know god and serve him from this knowledge the author z t fomum boldly argues that anything a man can do for god is of no consequence if it is not done as an overflow of his knowledge of god an initial encounter is important but beyond that it takes spiritual knowledge a high frequency intensity and a long duration of encounters between a man and his god this book is a pertinent plea that no one should serve god without knowing him it s highly recommended
