The Matrix in Theory 2020

the matrix trilogy continues to split opinions widely polarising the downright dismissive and the wildly enthusiastic nevertheless it has been fully embraced as a rich source of theoretical and cultural references the contributions in this volume probe the effects the matrix trilogy continues to provoke and evaluate how or to what extent they coincide with certain developments within critical and cultural theory is the enthusiastic philosophising and theorising spurred by the matrix a sign of the desperate state theory is in in the sense of see how low theory or post theory has sunk or could the matrix be one of the master texts for something like a renewal for theory as now being mainly concerned with new and changing relations between science technology posthumanist culture art politics ethics and the media the present volume is unashamedly but not dogmatically theoretical even though there is not much agreement about what kind of theory is best suited to confront post theoretical times but it is probably fair to say that there is agreement about one thing namely that if theory appears to be like the matrix today it does so because the culture around it and which made it itself seems to be captured in some kind of matrix the only way out of this is through more and renewed refreshed theorising not less whether it is being studied or critiqued the art canon is usually understood as an authoritative list of important works and artists this collection breaks with the idea of a singular transcendent canon through provocative case studies it demonstrates that the content of any canon is both historically and culturally specific and dependent on who is responsible for the canon s production and maintenance the contributors explore how where why and by whom canons are formed how they function under particular circumstances how they are maintained and why they may undergo change focusing on various moments from the seventeenth century to the present the contributors cover a broad geographic terrain encompassing the united states france germany the netherlands poland taiwan and south africa among the essays are examinations of the working and reworking of a canon by an influential nineteenth century french critic the limitations placed on what was acceptable as canonical in american textbooks produced during the cold war the failed attempt to define a canon of rembrandt s works and the difficulties of constructing an artistic canon in parts of the globe marked by colonialism and the imposition of eurocentric ideas of artistic value the essays highlight the diverse factors that affect the production of art canons market forces aesthetic and political positions nationalism and ingrained ideas concerning the cultural superiority of particular groups perceptions of gender and race artists efforts to negotiate their status within particular professional environments and the dynamics of art history as an academic discipline and discourse this volume is a call to historicize canons acknowledging both their partisanship and its implications for the writing of art history contributors jenny anger marcia brennan anna brzyski james cutting paul duro james elkins barbara jaffee robert jensen jane c ju monica kjellman chapin julie l mcgee terry smith linda stone ferrier despina stratigakos
