Grete, who has by now become tired of taking care of Gregor and is realizing the burden his existence puts on each one in the family, tells her parents they must get rid of it or they will all be ruined. Gregor, understanding that he is no longer wanted, dies of starvation before the next sunrise. The relieved and optimistic family take a tram ride out to the countryside and decide to move to a smaller apartment to further save money. During this short trip, Mr. and Mrs. Samsa realize that in spite of going through hardships which have brought an amount of paleness to her face, Grete appears to have grown up into a pretty and well-figured lady which leads her parents to think about finding her a husband.

The Metamorphosis by Franz Kafka is a real classic you should grab it and read it to experience it yourself. Here's a simple plot to the Metamorphosis by Franz Kafka: Gregor Samsa wakes up one morning to find himself transformed into a monstrous vermin. He initially considers the transformation to be temporary and slowly ponders the consequences of this metamorphosis. Unable to get up and leave the bed, Gregor reflects on his job as a traveling salesman and cloth merchant, which he characterizes as an exhausting and never-ending traffic. He sees his employer as a despot and would quickly quit his job were he not his family's sole breadwinner and working off his bankrupt father's debts while trying to move. Gregor finds that his office manager, the chief clerk, has shown up to check on him, indignant about Gregor's unexcused absence. Gregor attempts to communicate with both the manager and his family, but all they can hear from behind the door is incomprehensible vocalizations. Gregor laboriously drags himself across the floor and opens the door. The manager, upon seeing the transformed Gregor, flees the apartment. Gregor's family is horrified, and his father drives him back into his room under the threat of violence. With Gregor's unexpected incapacitation, the family is deprived of their financial stability. Although Gregor's sister, Grete, now shies away from the sight of him, she takes to supplying him with food, which they find he can only eat rotten. Gregor begins to accept his new identity and begins crawling on the floor, walls, and ceiling. Discovering Gregor's new pastime, Grete decides to remove some of the furniture to give Gregor more space. She and her mother begin taking furniture away, but Gregor finds their actions deeply distressing. He desperately tries to save a particularly loved portrait on the wall of a woman clad in fur. His mother loses consciousness at the sight of Gregor clinging to the image to protect it, as Grete rushes to assist her mother. Gregor follows her and is hurt by a medicine bottle falling on his face. His father returns home from work and angrily tosses apples at Gregor. One of them is lodged into a sensitive spot in his back and severely wounds him. Gregor suffers from his injuries for several weeks and takes very little food. He is increasingly neglected by his family, and his room becomes used for storage to secure their livelihood. The family takes three tenants into their apartment. The cleaning lady alleviates Gregor's isolation by leaving his door open for him on the evenings that the tenants eat out. One day, his door is left open despite the presence of the tenants gregor attracted by grete s violin playing in the living room crawls out of his room and is spotted by the unsuspecting tenants who complain about the apartment s unhygienic conditions and cancel their tenancy grete who has by now become tired of taking care of gregor and is realizing the burden his existence puts on each one in the family tells her parents they must get rid of it or they will all be ruined gregor understanding that he is no longer wanted dies of starvation before the next sunrise the relieved and optimistic family take a tram ride out to the countryside and decide to move to a smaller apartment to further save money during this short trip mr and mrs samsa realize that in spite of going through hardships which have brought an amount of paleness to her face grete appears to have grown up into a pretty and well figured lady which leads her parents to think about finding her a husband the metamorphosis by franz kafka as gregor samsa awoke one morning from uneasy dreams he found himself transformed in his bed into a gigantic insect he was laying on his hard as it were armor plated back and when he lifted his head a little he could see his domelike brown belly divided into stiff arched segments on top of which the bed quilt could hardly keep in position and was about to slide off completely his numerous legs which were pitifully thin compared to the rest of his bulk waved helplessly before his eyes with it s startling bizarre yet surprisingly funny first opening kafka begins his masterpiece the metamorphosis it is the story of a young man who transformed overnight into a giant beetle like insect becomes an object of disgrace to his family an outsider in his own home a quintessentially alienated man a harrowing though absurdly comic meditation on human feelings of inadequacy guilt and isolation the metamorphosis has taken its place as one of the most widely read and influential works of twentieth century fiction as w h auden wrote kafka is important to us because his predicament is the predicament of modern man the metamorphosis first published in 1915 is the most famous of kafka s works along with the trial and the castle the story begins when a traveling salesman gregor samsa wakes up to find himself transformed into a giant insect curiously his condition does not arouse surprise in his family who merely despise it as an impending burden as with all of kafka s works the metamorphosis is open to a wide range of interpretations most obvious are themes relating to society s treatment of those who are different the loneliness of isolation and the absurdity of the human condition newly designed and typeset in a modern 5 5 by 8 5 inch format by waking lion press few 20th century novelists can have been subjected to quite as much dissection and analysis as Franz Kafka nor can many have bestowed such a powerful and pervasive version of reality through their writing so much so that the term Kafkaesque is now commonly used to describe situations or environments in modern society being a Czech Jew trapped approximately between Stalin's Russia and Hitler's Germany both temporally and geographically it is perhaps not surprising he was obsessed with state control and persecution of individuals all three of his novels The Trial, The Castle, and Amerika reflect this and perhaps foreshadow what was about to happen in a world that became even more nightmarish than even Kafka's universe the novella Metamorphosis arguably his most famous work looks at a more microcosmic example of alienation and rejection all of Kafka's writings are hugely allegorical devising elaborate metaphors for authority society and the human condition in Metamorphosis the metaphor is for illness and difference when the story's protagonist awakes one morning to find himself transformed into a giant insect how his life and relationships change and how people react to him over a period of time is a parable of human callousness and indifference and could be seen as a chilling precursor to the Holocaust and Stalin's terror being a Jew himself Kafka would already have known something of anti-Semitism and discrimination even hatred the Russians had been persecuting the Jews with their pogroms for centuries the German attempt at genocide was about to start and perhaps Kafka had a foreboding of the way the world was heading and the tragic and pivotal role that Jews would unwillingly play Metamorphosis stands as a fascinating exploration of difference cruelty and ultimately inertia Nazi Germany gave it an unlooked for and terrible manifestation in the real world where the stuff of horror and twisted fantasy became sickening reality for many while others denied or passed by on the other side of the street

Kafka wrote the Metamorphosis in 1912 the year he felt his creativity finally taking a definite form it was one of fairly few works Kafka was to publish in his lifetime in 1913 he turned down an offer to publish the story possibly because he was saving it for a book he was planning called Sons a year later he sent the book to a friend who was prevented from publishing it by his conservative editors finally the Metamorphosis appeared in print in 1915 after Kafka asked a publisher to put it out in a very unusual display of concern for publication the writing process on this novel was laborious taking three weeks in November and December and the final product turned out to be the longest work Kafka ever completed in his life the novel is clearly highly autobiographical in its content to shed some light on the driving themes we should make a brief examination of Kafka's life his beliefs and his ideas on writing the actual conditions of his life especially his family life are certainly a model for the family interactions of the novel and the form of the story comes from Kafka's watching of a play
