this book presents the regenerative leadership framework that has emerged from doctoral research and consulting work with successful sustainability leaders and their organizations in business education and community the framework synthesizes the levels of awareness the leadership styles and behaviours and the organizational arrangements that correlate most significantly across these domains most importantly the overwhelming majority of the leaders in this work agree that individual and collective consciousness development is critical to transforming the culture of organizations for sustainability and beyond the term regenerative has not been chosen arbitrarily but to provide an alternative to the notion of sustainability which many of the leaders featured here indicate has become insufficient to describe what needs to be done economically socially and environmentally if we are to ensure a flourishing world for present and future generations this work in turn has led to the development of the regenerative capacity index rci a tool designed to assess an organization's readiness to engage in regenerative practice from this evaluation of an organization's regenerative capacity it becomes possible to design a strategy for regeneration that considers all levels of its environmental social and economic impact both internally and externally in the local and global community among its major findings the book argues that the more evolved sustainability leaders are becoming increasingly dissatisfied with the construct of sustainability and indicate the need for a profound cultural shift towards regenerative human systems in this framework regenerative organizations are driven by a sense higher purpose and leadership is exercised horizontally and collaboratively leaders and followers engage in generative conversations to create desirable futures which are then backcasted to eliminate unanticipated consequences throughout leaders emphasize the critical importance of engaging in personal and collective consciousness development or inner work in order to make regenerative practices possible poetry has long been thought of as a genre devoted to grand subjects timeless themes and sublime beauty why then have contemporary poets turned with such intensity to documenting and capturing the everyday and mundane drawing on insights about the nature of everyday life from philosophy history and critical theory andrew epstein traces the modern history of this preoccupation and considers why it is so much with us today attention equals life argues that a potent hunger for everyday life explodes in the post 1945 period as a reaction to the rapid unsettling transformations of this epoch which have resulted in a culture of perilous distraction epstein demonstrates that poetry is an important and perhaps unlikely cultural form that has mounted a response and even a mode of resistance to a culture suffering from an acute crisis of attention in this timely and engaging study epstein examines why a compulsion to represent the everyday becomes predominant in the decades after modernism and why it has so often sparked genre bending formal experimentation with chapters devoted to illuminating readings of a diverse group of writers including poets associated with influential movements like the new york school language poetry and conceptual writing the book considers the variety of forms contemporary poetry of everyday life has taken and analyzes how gender race and political forces all profoundly inflect the experience and the representation of the quotidian by exploring the rise of experimental realism as a poetic mode and the turn to rule governed everyday life projects attention equals life offers a new way of understanding a vital strain at the heart of twentieth and twenty first century literature it not only charts the evolution of a significant concept in cultural theory and poetry but also reminds readers that the quest to pay attention to the everyday within today s frenetic world of smartphones and social media is an urgent and unending task
