On Some Diseases of Women Admitting of Surgical Treatment 1854 using first person accounts of hindus and muslims in a remote bangladeshi village the author analyzes a large scale riot that profoundly altered life in the area in the 1950s she provides a glimpse into the hearts and minds of the participants and their families

The Sermons and Life of ... Hugh Latimer, Some Time Bishop of Worcester 1858 a waterstones best book of 2023 this is a neglected history not a sweeping definitive exhaustive history of the world but something quieter more intimate and particular a single journey picked out in 101 objects through the fascinating too often overlooked manifold histories of women open up this cabinet of curiosities and you ll find objects that have been highly esteemed even like the bayeux tapestry fought over by nations and others that are humble and domestic some like a sixteenth century glass dildo are objects of female pleasure some a thumbscrew of female subjugation there are artefacts of women celebrated by history and of women unfairly forgotten by it examples of female rebellion and of self revelation objects that are inspiring curious or like radium laced chocolate just fundamentally ill conceived through the variety and nuance in all these 101 objects annabelle hirsch has created a new history teeming unexpected witty and always illuminating this overdue corrective reveals what a healed femur says about civilisation what men have to fear from hat pins and it shows that the past has always been as complicated and fascinating as the women that peopled it

Some Women 1995 what s wrong with markets in everything markets today are widely recognized as the most efficient way in general to organize production and distribution in a complex economy and with the collapse of communism and rise of globalization it s no surprise that markets and the political theories supporting them have seen a considerable resurgence for many markets are an all purpose remedy for the deadening effects of bureaucracy and state control but what about those markets we might label noxious markets in addictive drugs say or in sex weapons child labor or human organs such markets arouse widespread discomfort and often revulsion in why some things should not be for sale philosopher debra satz takes a penetrating look at those commodity exchanges that strike most of us as problematic what considerations she asks ought to guide the debates about such markets what is it about a market involving prostitution or the sale of kidneys that makes it morally objectionable how is a market in weapons or pollution different than a market in soybeans or automobiles are laws and social policies banning the more noxious markets necessarily the best responses to them satz contends that categories previously used by philosophers and economists are of limited utility in addressing such questions because they have assumed markets to be homogenous accordingly she offers a broader and more nuanced view of markets one that goes beyond the usual discussions of efficiency and distributional equality to show how markets shape our culture foster or thwart human development and create and support structures of power an accessibly written work that will engage not only philosophers but also political scientists economists legal scholars and public policy experts this book is a significant contribution to ongoing discussions about the place of markets in a democratic society

Some Findings from Television Studies 1953 this new edition of a classic feminist book explains how one of the great historical revolutions the ongoing movement toward equality between the sexes has come about its origins are to be found not in changing ideas but in the economic developments that have made women s labour too valuable to be spent exclusively in domestic pursuits the revolution is unfinished new arrangements are needed to fight still prevalent discrimination in the workplace to achieve a more just sharing of housework and childcare between women and men and with the weakening of the institution of marriage to re erect a firm economic basis for the raising of children

Some Aspects of Early Indian Society 2012 the term religion lends itself to various meanings and interpretations depending upon the nature education and the level of consciousness and conscience of a particular human being who actually harbors the idea or practices of his faith it is evident therefore that the concept of religion in human life and society appears to be most controversial and a complex thing which has variable meanings and significance to various human minds it is indeed pitiful to observe that in the mountain maelstrom of materialism man develops the tendency to ignore or undermine the edifying and enriching experience of religions and prefers to stay away from the path of the nourishment of his soul without which both human existence and progress are seriously endangered the practice of spiritual uplift is therefore an indispensable condition of human progress and civilization for a life conditioned by and dependent on mere material development is deemed to be fraught with utter futility the essays chosen in this volume by and large have been written by scholars with a view to unfolding either the virtues or shortcomings of many of the principles and practices of different religions some of the essays have sought to examine the causes and reasons behind the unhealthy views and superstitions and also to reveal a good and elevating virtues the cultivation of which may enlighten us for the realization of the noble ideas and ideals of life the writers have made an honest attempt to look at the grim reality of some religious superstitions in order to find out the hidden light that rise beyond the boundary of blind beliefs and faiths such a quest is always worthwhile for a sincere seeker in quest of truth and light the authors of the essays have taken pains to diagnose the deep seated malady of blind belief fanaticism and dogmatisms

Some Men Are More Perfect Than Others 1973 the new iranian cinema has had a fascinating success story in world cinema and critics have hailed iranian films as alternatives to the homogenising global influence of mainstream hollywood cinema drawing on seminal ideas of art cinema christopher gow examines how the success of this cinema and the films of abbas kiarostami its foremost proponent can be accounted for by the extent to which they fit into a pre established notion of art cinema gow also expands understanding of post revolutionary iranian cinema by examining the links between the new iranian cinema and emigre iranian filmmaking from the uncompromising german films of sohrab shahid saless to vadim perlman s exploration of the iranian experience of exile in the oscar nominated house of sand and fog he reveals how this large and dispersed emigre iranian cinema challenges our understanding of new iranian cinema itself and of national cinema in general

Women 1989 few issues created greater consensus among civil war era northerners than the belief that the secessionists had committed treason but as william a blair shows in this engaging history the way politicians soldiers and civilians dealt with disloyalty varied widely citizens often moved more swiftly than federal agents in punishing traitors in their midst forcing the government to rethink legal practices and definitions in reconciling the northern contempt for treachery with a demonstrable record of judicial leniency toward the south blair illuminates the other ways that northerners punished perceived traitors including confiscating slaves arresting newspaper editors for expressions of free speech and limiting voting ultimately punishment for treason extended well beyond wartime and into the framework of reconstruction policies including the construction of the fourteenth amendment establishing how treason was defined not just by the lincoln administration congress and the courts but also by the general public blair reveals the surprising implications for north and south alike

The Economic Emergence of Women 2005-09-16 when the author reached the age of eighty and was no longer able to travel much he began to put a few words on paper his motivation was to keep his mind alert as his muscles weakened some of these musings attempted to be amusing without much success others were reactions to articles in the australian newspaper in the days when he could afford to have it delivered every day then he got carried away and began to deliberately wear different hats a sportswriter one day a current affairs commentator on another day an arrogant book reviewer the next all the opinions expressed are his own based upon wide reading and a good memory so that ideas spawned by a book on theoretical physics began to mix with stories of the brith raj in india and his sound catholic upbringing based on his father s love of rerum novarum began to embrace the results of living for a while in a strongly buddhist society so if you are looking for historical accuracy you will not find it here he has kept no notes or references what is in his head has leaked out through his word processor it is curiously therapeutic a bit like going to confession but not quite
