the untold story of how paper revolutionized art making during the renaissance exploring how it shaped broader concepts of authorship memory and the transmission of ideas over the course of three centuries in the late medieval and renaissance period paper transformed society not only through its role in the invention of print but also in the way it influenced artistic production the art of paper tells the history of this medium in the context of the artist's workshop from the thirteenth century when it was imported to europe from africa to the sixteenth century when european paper was exported to the colonies of new spain in this pathbreaking work caroline fowler approaches the topic culturally rather than technically deftly exploring the way paper shaped concepts of authorship preservation and the transmission of ideas during this period this book both tells a transcultural history of paper from the cairo genizah to the mesoamerican manuscript and examines how paper became europeanized through the various mechanisms of the watermark colonization and the philosophy of john locke ultimately fowler demonstrates how paper as refuse and rags transformed into white surface informed the works for which it was used as well as artists thinking more broadly across the early modern world no one has been more influential in the contemporary practice of art history than erwin panofsky yet many of his early seminal papers remain virtually unknown to art historians as a result michael ann holly maintains art historians today do not have access to the full range of methodological considerations and possibilities that panofsky's thought offers and they often remain unaware of the significant role art history played in the development of modern humanistic thought placing panofsky's theoretical work first in the context of the major historical paradigms generated by hegel burckhardt and dilthey holly shows how these paradigms themselves became the grounds for creative controversy among panofsky's predecessors riegls wölfflin warburg and dvorák among others she also discusses how panofsky's struggle with the terms and concepts of neo kantianism produced in his work remarkable parallels with the philosophy of ernst cassirer finally she evaluates panofsky s better known and later iconological studies by reading them against the earlier essays and by comparing his earlier ideas with the vision that has inspired recent work in the philosophy of history semiotics and the philosophy of science this book examines the many functions of paper in the fine art and aesthetics of the early twentieth century modernist or historic avant garde expressionism cubism futurism dadaism surrealism constructivism and many more with its many collages and photomontages the historic avant garde is generally considered to have transformed paper from a mere support into an artistic medium and to have assisted in art on paper gaining a firm autonomy bringing together an international team of scholars this book shows that the story of paper in the avant garde has thereby hardly been told the first section looks at a selection of canonized individual avant gardists work on paper to demonstrate that the material and formal analysis of paper in the avant garde s artistic production still holds much in store in the second section chapters zoom in on forms and formats of collective artistic production that deployed paper to move around reproductions of fine art works to facilitate the dialogue between avant gardists to better promote their work among patrons and to make their work available to a wider audience chapters in the third section lay bare how certain groups within the avant garde began to massively create monochrome works because these could be easily reproduced when transferred to or reproduced as linocuts in the last section of the book chapters explore how the avant garde s attentiveness to paper almost always also implied a critique of the ways in which paper and all that it stood for was treated and labored in european culture and society more broadly the book will be of interest to scholars working in art history modernism and design seminar paper from the year 2012 in the subject history miscellaneous grade a university of cambridge language english abstract contemporary art is now judged as a historical experience commencing from the end of world war ii in 1945 the current crop of artists is contributing their mite to the highly multifaceted and globalized economy of cultural packages the year 1945 was turning point because after the war and the establishment of american superiority the cultural political and economic power shifted partially from europe to the us it was not surprising because the erstwhile european colonialism also waned considerably a new generation of artists has evolved around this time who consistently overturned the existing modernist practices and established new tools for dealing with contemporary art in europe and north america leading to what guy debord described as society of the spectacle which gives prominence to the visual arts which in turn dictate the various cultural practices and in general specify the way people interpret contest or maneuver contemporary life amelia j 2006 assuming that post world war ii contemporary arts is now 60 years old it is indeed a surprise that so much of history has come to pass with such speed and density of events during this short period in world history this has necessitated the need for developing the capabilities of understanding and appreciating the visual arts since 1945 these facts serve as a vital addition to the existing texts on social aesthetic and chronological development of contemporary art most of these surveys concentrated on the euro american art since 1945 with just a little attention to non european american art developments and history amelia j 2006 as art continues to bargain on its affiliation to globalization it wonders what consequences globalization will have on it we also wonder whether art history could go global and if so what it will look like and who would be running the show this subject will need to cover every aspect of space travel national identity and intra cultural impacts of the day amelia j 2006
