jordan b peterson paper fulltext peacemaking among higher order primatesabstract facts are facts opinions about the facts differ it is therefore the job of the peacemaker to bridge the gap between opinions and in that manner bring about reconciliation this much seems obvious but what if the facts themselves differ what if the basis for the disagreement is so profound that the world arrays itself differently for each antagonist and worse what if the disagreement extends beyond the antagonist to the peacemaker who sees the facts themselves in a manner that neither antagonist can accept what then ridiculous surely how can the facts themselves differ when it is one world that we all inhabit but the facts do differ because the world is complex beyond the scope of any one interpretation for this reason there can be disagreement about first principles as well as their derivatives this means that the job of the peacemaker is to establish an accord that allows the facts themselves to become a matter of agreement to do that however the peacemaker has to be able to see the facts that lead to peace to do that he has to be more than a pragmatic broker of opinions he has to be a man of deep and profoundly rooted morality and a man of the morality of no man s land instead of the morality of established territory no man s land is the unknown terra incognita the morality of the previously established is merely a matter of tradition agreed upon by all when traditions clash however the facts themselves are no longer self evident under such conditions it is only the individual who has traveled strange lands who can build a bridge but to travel strange lands is to risk coming under the dominion of the terrible spirits that inhabit the uninhabitable to risk becoming the strange son of chaos someone no longer acceptable to those who still dwell quietly at home to travel strange lands is to see the broader territory the no man s land surrounding all conditional moralities and to learn how to negotiate a path there but also to lose all belief that there is one way or one set of fact zusammengestellt verarbeitet durch leon trost bücher

Why Tell the Truth: an Introduction to the Basic Ideas of Jordan B. Peterson

having more than 300 hours worth of lectures online makes peterson s work a mountain so large that the climb seems impossible save only for the fervent why listen to a man many have already labelled a charlatan a self help guru or worse an alt right prophet one reason is because most have not placed his popular teaching in the context of his own work this is an introduction to jordan b peterson s ideas for the average person based on the article shared and recommended by jordan b peterson himself why tell the truth an introduction to the basic ideas of jordan b peterson outlines explains and connects the basic ideas of jordan peterson in seven chapters the problems before us peterson and the revival of pragmatism our maps of meaning myth science and hierarchy thinking clearly about religion a prelude to peterson s ideas about god and faith the life that justifies suffering cultural controversies postmodernism marxism and speech laws final remarks this book significantly revises updates and expands the original essay and includes new references in light of recently released interviews debates and articles the reader will be introduced to how peterson understands science to be based on a motivational understanding of reality the ideas of chaos and order his ideas concerning postmodernism marxism hierarchies religion and more from the foreword peterson s huge popular appeal can easily be chalked up to his charisma a black box or occult entity that names his draw without really explaining it here again however attention to his understanding of truth proves instructive as lovins demonstrates in this book peterson s more pragmatic understanding of truth maintains a tight connection between thought with practice it is from the embodied manifestation of the power of this connection in peterson s teaching that much of the forceful appeal of his position arises people accustomed to encountering truth in anaemic and enervated forms are startled to attention when they see someone declaring truth as something vital and powerful as something that is profoundly integrated into and animating of the life of its bearer while a weak notion of truth may serve us in our partisan ideological and political squabbles faced with the reality of suffering it will prove insufficient to sustain us it is not accidental that peterson s vision has been forged in large measure upon the brutal anvil of totalitarian political forces in the twentieth century in facing the problem of suffering peterson is not merely addressing the concerns of contemporary social and political discourse that tend to revolve around the maintenance of the complacency of a shallow consumerist comfort but is unearthing dark corners of the human soul and emphasizing the need for self mastery if we are to become people of integrity people who can survive and overcome the worst that life and society can throw at us not content with encouraging persons to be well adjusted members of a materialistic modern society peterson desires to equip us to withstand the sort of radical personal and social evil witnessed in communist and fascist countries over the last hundred years of history it should come as no surprise that a great many people who have been seeking direction and strength to endure personal suffering have found rich spiritual sustenance in the teaching of peterson as an alternative to the dry morsels of bread afforded by mere ideology words of genuine truth prove life giving and empowering thus spoke zarathustra with jordan b peterson lecture foreword friedrich nietzsche thus spoke zarathustra english translation 1 when zarathustra was thirty years old he left his home and the lake of his home and went into the mountains there he enjoyed his spirit and solitude and for ten years did not weary of it but at last his heart changed and rising one morning with the rosy dawn he went before the sun and spake thus unto it thou great star what would be thy happiness if thou hadst not those for whom thou shinest for ten years hast thou climbed hither unto my cave thou wouldst have wearied of thy light and of the journey had it not been for me mine eagle and my serpent but we awaited thee every morning took from thee thine overflow and blessed thee for it lo i am weary of my wisdom like the bee that hath gathered too much honey i need hands outstretched to take it i would fain bestow and distribute until the wise have once more become joyous in their folly and the poor happy in their riches therefore must i descend into the deep as thou doest in the evening when thou goest behind the sea and givest light also to the nether world thou exuberant star like thee must i go down as men say to whom i shall descend bless me then thou tranquil eye that canst behold even the greatest happiness without envy bless the cup that is about to overflow that the water may flow golden out of it and carry everywhere the reflection of thy bliss lo this cup is again going to empty itself and zarathustra is again going to be a man thus began zarathustra s down going

beyond good and evil with jordan b peterson lecture foreword friedrich nietzsche beyond good and evil english translation it s a truism and probably an oversimplified one that since the dawn of the scientific revolution a wedge has been driven through the heart of our society and the moral systems that we use to unite us so those would be religious systems that have been subject to an intense critique from the scientists and you know it s a pretty effective critique even if you have maintained a traditional faith the scientific onslaught is no joke and that s a problem as far as i can tell because the problem is is that you re still left with the problem of how you should act nietzsche would say that we re running on the fumes of christianity in the west because over it s fifteen hundred years of absolute domination it produced a consensus of morality that was predicated on metaphysical presuppositions that organised societies those societies are predicated on certain beliefs like the belief that something divine inhabits each individual you know that presumption that s embedded in law it s the idea of natural right that there s something about you that s so valuable that even the law has to bow to it even if you re reprehensible even if you re convicted and reprehensible now that s the idea that people came up with that idea ist a bloody miracle because your general proclivity is so that if someone is even accused of doing something terrible that s enough so that you can stone them to death or do whatever you re going to do with them the presumption of innocence before guilt of all the things that aren't automatic that's one of the things on top of the list it's interesting to me because it seems to me that that presupposition that there's something valuable transcendent about each individual i wouldn't call that a scientific presupposition but it seems to be a highly functional presupposition i think in that it isn't unreasonable to notice that societies that have valued the individual and made the law subject to the individual even with regards to voting because that's basically what voting does putting sovereignty in the hands of the people those societies actually seem to work now whether they'll work for the next 300 years who the hell knows i don't know but they worked pretty well for the last 500 years we've got it pretty good right now and i suspect most of you are rather pleased that the law recognises your value as individuals and you take that for granted right you think you have natural rights and of course they are a logical consequence of your transcendent value and that's nested in this nietzsche's observation is that it's nested in a set of metaphysical beliefs and his idea was that if you wipe the metaphysical beliefs eventually you wipe out the whole system because you've knocked out the cornerstone and it might take a long time for the thing to shake and fall but but it will whether he was right or not is hard to say it looks to me that what's happened since nietzsche announced the death of god and the late 1800s is that western society is oscillated between extremes extremes on the right extremes on the left democracy is somewhere in the middle but it's not obvious to me that that can be maintained without the underlying metaphysics that's a problem because whatever you might say about the underlying metaphysics it's not true the way science is true and that could be okay because there might be more than one form of truth in fact i think there is pragmatic truth and i think pragmatic truth is actually deeper than scientific truth and pragmatic truth is the truth that enables you to act in a manner that's best that improves the probability of your existence and your reproduction maximally
