New Directions in Strategic Thinking 2.0 2018-07-06 the Australian National University's Strategic Defence Studies Centre (SDSC) is Australia's premier university-based strategic studies think tank. Fifty years after the centre was founded in 1966, SDSC celebrated its continued research, publications, teaching, and government advisory role with a two-day conference entitled "New Directions in Strategic Thinking 2.0". The event saw the podium graced by many of the world's premier thinkers in the strategic studies field. An evening between those tours to the lectern brought together academics, practitioners, and other honoured guests at a commemorative dinner held beneath the widespread wings of the G for George Bomber in the Australian War Memorial, an event that included SDSC's own Professor Desmond Ball, AO, making his last public appearance since SDSC's 25th anniversary. The world has seen the collapse of the Soviet Union and the end of the Cold War bipolarity gave way to the emergence of the United States as the world's sole superpower, a status many now see as under threat. Both the nature of the threats and identity of individual competitors has changed in the interim quarter century. Non-state actors are presenting rising challenges to national governments. Meanwhile, a diminished Russia and far more wealthy China seek to reassert themselves. Never before has the call for reasoned, innovative security studies thinking been more pronounced. Rarely has a group so able to offer that thought come together as was the case in July 2016 this book encapsulates the essence of this cutting edge thinking and is a must read for those concerned with emerging strategic challenges facing Australia and its security partners virus of the mind is the first popular book devoted to the science of memetics a controversial new field that transcends psychology biology anthropology and cognitive science memetics is the science of memes the invisible but very real dna of human society in virus of the mind richard brodie carefully builds on the work of scientists richard dawkins douglas hofstadter daniel dennett and others who have become fascinated with memes and their potential impact on our lives but richard goes beyond science and dives into the meat of the issue is the emergence of this new science going to have an impact on our lives like the emergence of atomic physics did in the cold war he would say the impact will be at least as great while atomic bombs affect everybody s life viruses of the mind touch lives in a more personal and more pernicious way mind viruses have already infected governments educational systems and inner cities leading to some of the most pervasive and troublesome problems of society today youth gangs the welfare cycle the deterioration of the public schools and ever growing government bureaucracy viruses of the mind are not a future worry they are here with us now and are evolving to become better and better at their job of infecting us the recent explosion of mass media and the information superhighway has made the earth a prime breeding ground for viruses of the mind will there be a mental plague will only some of us survive with our free will intact richard brodie weaves together science ethics and current events as he raises these and other very disturbing questions about memes the 21st century has witnessed a complete revolution in the understanding and description of bacteria in eco systems and microbial assemblages and how they are regulated by complex interactions among microbes hosts and environments the human organism is no longer considered a monolithic assembly of tissues but is instead a true ecosystem composed of human cells bacteria fungi algae and viruses as such humans are not unlike other complex ecosystems containing microbial assemblages observed in the marine and earth environments they all share a basic functional principle chemical communication is the universal language that allows such groups to properly function together these chemical networks regulate interactions like metabolic exchange antibiosis and symbiosis and communication the national academies of sciences engineering and medicine s chemical sciences roundtable organized a series of four seminars in the autumn of 2016 to explore the current advances opportunities and challenges toward unveiling this chemical dark matter and its role in the regulation and function of different ecosystems the first three focused on specific ecosystemsâ earth marine and humanâ and the last on all microbiome systems this publication summarizes the presentations and discussions from the seminars john the baptist as a rewritten figure in luke acts compares the gospel of luke s account of john s ministry with those of matthew mark and john to make the case for the hypertextual relationship between the synoptic gospels the book is divided into three parts part i situates the gospel of luke within the broader context of biblical rewritings and makes the general case that a rewriting strategy can be detected in luke while parts ii and iii combined offer a more detailed and specific argument for luke s refiguring of the public ministry of john the baptist through the use of omitted new adapted and reserved material while the two source hypothesis typically presupposes the independence of luke and matthew in their rewritings of mark and q chauchot argues that luke was heavily reliant on matthew as suggested by the l m hypothesis approaching the baptist figure in the synoptic gospels from a literary critical perspective chauchot examines test cases of detailed comparative analysis between them to argue that the gospel of luke makes thematic changes upon john the baptist and is best characterized as a highly creative reshaping of matthew and mark making a contribution to current research in the field of new testament exegesis the book is key reading for students
