the 2015 trac proceedings feature a selection of 14 papers summing up some of the key sessions presented at the conference held at the university of leicester in march 2015 which drew over 180 delegates of 17 nationalities from a variety of universities museums and research institutions in the uk europe and north america as this conference marked the 25th anniversary of trac the volume opens with a preface commemorating the last 25 years with an eye toward the future direction of both conference and community the proceedings begin with dr andrew gardner s keynote paper on the topic of debating roman imperialism critique construct repeat this is followed by an array of papers with topics ranging in geographic scope and period from small finds in early roman britain to bathing practices late antique north africa and from the investigation of deviant burials to the application of urban scaling theory in roman contexts because of this diversity the volume is not broken into specific sections however papers with similar themes are grouped accordingly allowing the text to flow and be read as a whole the range of contributing authors is also of note as papers were submitted by phd students post doctoral researchers and university faculty all helping to make the 25th anniversary of this series one that continues to emphasis and reflect the aims of trac both as a conference and as a conduit for exploring more theory driven approaches to the roman past this volume contains a selection of papers presented at trac 2014 as well as some invited contributions in keeping with the aims of trac several papers make innovative use of interdisciplinary theory in humanistic geography philosophy and archaeology social psychology and the cognitive science of religion in the study of roman monuments military social history and religion other papers share a common theme the critical interpretation of archaeological evidence a more careful consideration of non grave good pottery sherds from graves suggests that these often disregarded items potentially shed light on funerary rites which are usually considered to be invisible the potential importance of plant remains particularly of exotic and rare species in ritual deposits is examined and a new perspective on the negative aspects of roman conquest of northern gaul presented new approaches towards our understanding of space and landscape in the roman world comprise an examination of the suburbs of ancient rome and preliminary results of an ongoing project exploring the relationship between wetland landscapes and domestic settlements presenting a case study from spain thirteen papers on roman archaeology from the 10th annual trac conference contents representing the romans in the museum of scotland david clarke and fraser hunter representing londonium francis grew writing colonial conflict acknowledging colonial weakness garrick fincham identities in the late roman army material and textual perspectives andrew gardner medicine culture and symbolism gwyn davies animal iconographies metaphor meaning and identity miranda alldhouse green an archaeology of food a case study from roman britain gillian hawkes small finds problems and possibilities kelly spradley æromanisationE and the body gilly carr infants cemeteries and communities in the roman provinces john pearce unpicking a myth the infanticide of female and disabled infants in antiquity eleanor scott playing dead rebecca gowland a larger than usual selection of papers from the annual trac conference sessions included supplying the army imperial communication the role of the deceased in roman society military identities and experiencing space and place in the roman world the twenty third theoretical roman archaeology conference trac was held at king s college london in spring 2013 during the three day conference nearly papers were delivered discussing issues from a wide range of geographical regions of the roman empire and applying various theoretical and methodological approaches sessions included those looking at roman barbarian interactions identity and funerary monuments in ancient italy migration and social identity in the roman near east theoretical approaches to roman small finds formation processes of in fills in urban sites and new reflections on roman glass this volume contains a selection of papers from the conference sessions trac trends in analytical chemistry volume 10 presents relevant topics in global analytical chemistry research this book discusses the potential of flow injection analysis for water quality monitoring organized into 27

parts encompassing 67 chapters this book begins with an overview of the amount of published information on analytical chemistry research this text then examines the analytical technique in the electrophoretic separations in narrow bore tubes which is capable of rapid high resolution separations of water soluble components in small sample volumes other chapters consider the application of polynomial and b spline interpolation to the description of cyclic voltammetric features this book discusses as well the methods used to investigate the properties of ceramic high transition temperature superconductors the final chapter deals with the importance of monitoring and protecting the environment based on measurement campaigns this book is a valuable resource for analytical chemists environmental chemists and biochemists pharmacologists scientists students researcher workers and other practitioners will also find this book useful with an appendix containing a full analysis of the debts of the united states the several states municipalities etc also statements of street railway and traction companies industrial corporations etc statement omitted on later vols trends in analytical chemistry volume 4 focuses on the advancements of processes technologies operations automation and applications of analytical chemistry the selection first offers information on bullet proof input with an ibm pc including trends in pesticide residue analysis environmental analysis using gas chromatography and ion induced spectroscopic methods for the analysis of surfaces interfaces and thin films the text then elaborates on the prolog an artificial intelligence language and the consideration of forth as a good programming environment for laboratory automation discussions focus on computer aided optimization in high performance liquid chromatography porphyrin analysis by reversed phase high performance liquid chromatography and liquid chromatography with on line electron capture detection the text elaborates on linear regression and simple statistics calculated with the spread sheet program superlac discussions focus on lipid membrane technology for chemical and biosensor development use of chemometrics in apportionment of air pollution sources and analytical applications of direct chromatographic enantioseparation the publication is a dependable reference for readers interested in the trends in analytical chemistry trends in analytical chemistry volume 12 focuses on the advancements of processes technologies automation and applications of analytical chemistry the selection first offers information on single cell analysis at the level of a single human erythrocyte and micellar catalysis in reaction rate methods topics include analytical strategies analysis of single erythrocytes kinetic aspects of micellar catalysis and micellar kinetic multicomponent determination the text then takes a look at advances in the field of laser atomic spectroscopy and molecular recognition of sugars including detection of sugar complexation driving force and selectivity of sugar complexation atomization excitation source and diagnostic tool the manuscript examines charge remote fragmentations for structural determination of lipids advances in speciation analysis by capillary gas chromatography and chemical pattern recognition and multivariate analysis for qsar studies the publication also ponders on in vivo microdialysis sampling in pharmacokinetic studies a novel single beam optical spectrophotometer for fast luminescence absorption and reflection measurements of turbid materials and techniques for the study and characterization of advanced materials the selection is a dependable reference for readers interested in the trends in analytical chemistry extract the number of beef cows in each of the four major u s cow calf production regions declined by about one fifth between 1975 and 1980 in response to sharp reductions in feeder cattle prices and increases in production costs during the midseventies several physical measures of performance indicate that most resources were used more efficiently in beef cow calf production in 1980 than in 1975 this report identifies the structural characteristics and operating practices for beef cow calf production operations in the united states aiming for april 2009 and the university of southampton 17 18 april 2009 trends in analytical chemistry volume 5 focuses on the advancements of processes technologies automation and applications of analytical chemistry the selection first offers information on graphics programming for the ibm pc using fortran pascal and c including graphics hardware system software assembly language routines and high level interface the text then elaborates on the place of affinity chromatography in the production and purification of biomolecules from cultured cells and zone electrophoresis in open tubular capillaries discussions focus on column and instrument design applications affinity chromatography in protein production from cells and economic aspects of production and purification of proteins from cell cultures the manuscript takes a look at polarographic and voltammetric techniques and their application to the determination of vitamins and coenzymes and activation analysis with charged particles topics include accelerators principle of charged particle activation analysis and applications the text then examines the development of microbiological and immunological assays for antibiotics and the use of computer system for a small analytical research laboratory the book is a dependable reference for readers interested in the trends in analytical chemistry the twenty second theoretical roman archaeology conference trac was held at the goethe university frankfurt am main in spring 2012 during the three day conference fifty papers were delivered discussing issues from a wide range of geographical regions of the roman empire and applying various theoretical and methodological approaches an equally wide selection of subjects was presented sessions looked at greek art and philhellenism in the roman world the validity of the concept of romanisation change and continuity in roman religion urban neighbourhood relations in pompeii and ostia the transformation of objects in and from the roman world frontier markets and roman archaeology in the provinces in addition two general sessions covered single topics such as the transvestite of catterick metal recycling or egyptian funeral practice in the roman period this volume contains a selection of papers from all these sessions vivid first accounts of the fight for fallujah collected just days or weeks after events collated and contextualised by marine field historian lt col david e kelly in march 2004 the unprovoked ambush killing and desecration of the bodies of american civilian security contractors in fallujah iraq caused the national command authorities in washington dc to demand that the newly arrived marine expeditionary force there take action against the perpetrators and other insurgent forces planned stability and support operations were cast aside as insurgent fighters dared the marines to enter fallujah marine infantrymen tankers helicopter crews and amphibious vehicle drivers all pitched into high intensity battles and firefights during the first fights of fallujah in april 2004 across the board cooperation and innovation marked these fighting marines in combined arms fights that no one expected marines fought in the streets conducted house to house searches cleared buildings of enemy and used tank main guns in direct support of urban environment operations helicopter crews supported operations on the ground with rockets and machine gun fire and amtrac marines transported forces to face enemy rpg and machine gun fire marines from infantry squad members to a battalion commander were interviewed by marine corps field historians within days or weeks of the events at nearby combat outposts and camps this book combines these interview notes and the words of the men themselves to create a unique narrative of marines in this combat casualties only stiffened the will of the marines to crush the enemy a late april political plan called for the withdrawal of marine forces from the city and marines at every level though frustrated understood the need to allow this attempted solution to play itself out material culture patterns and cultural change in south west britain jason lucas acculturation and the temporal features of ritual action jan weekes celts romans and the coligny calendar cathy swift regarding the stars carol van driel murray measuring time and inventing histories in the early empire roman and germanic perspectives maureen carroll the metamorphic movement mythological and heroic narratives on roman sarcophagi inge lyse hansen with an appendix containing a full analysis of the debts of the united states the several states municipalities etc also statements of street railway and traction companies industrial corporations etc statement omitted on later vols budget report for 1929 31 deals also with the operations of the fiscal year ended june 30 1928 and the estimates for the fiscal year ending june 30 1929
