in barely forty years of life martin luther king 1929 1968 distinguished himself as one of the greatest social reformers of modern times civil rights leader defender of nonviolence in the struggle of desegregation champion of the poor anti war proponent and broad minded visionary of an interrelated world of free people his many verbal and written communications in the form of sermons speeches interviews letters essays and several books are replete with bible proverbs as love your enemies he who lives by the sword shall perish by the sword and man does not live by bread alone as well as folk proverbs as time and tide wait for no man last hired first fired no gain without pain and making a way out of no way he also delighted in citing quotations that have become proverbs to wit no man is an island all men are created equal and no lie can live forever king recycles these bits of traditional wisdom in various contexts varying his proverbial messages as he addresses the multifaceted issues of civil rights his rhetorical prowess is thus informed to a considerable degree by his effective use of his repertoire of proverbs which he frequently uses as leitmotifs or amasses into set pieces of fixed phrases to be employed repeatedly

God Is My Drum Major 1894

john franklin has been collecting traditional toy soldiers for over sixty years mostly britains but as the title suggests including other interesting additions in this book he shares some of the in depth knowledge gained through experience and countless hours of careful research but most of all the passion and enthusiasm for his hobby he explains how he was inspired to collect soldiers like so many in early boyhood and how a hobby grew into an obsession the various chapters then examine themes he followed in his collecting such as britains special painting orders and indian army pipe bands for example or address questions regarding the manufacture or identity of specific sets that he has researched or in some cases is still seeking the answer to it is packed with anecdotes useful technical information and helpful advice for the collector but it is above all a proud tour of inspection of a sixty year labour of love over four hundred photographs show much of the author's magnificent collection in a parade of miniature pomp and splendour competition and competitiveness are roundly celebrated as public values and key indicators of a dynamic and forward thinking society but the headlong embrace of competitive market principles increasingly prevalent in our neoliberal age often obscures the enduring divisiveness of a society set up to produce winners and losers in this inspired and thoughtfully argued book andrew j douglas turns to the later writings of w e b du bois to reevaluate the very terms of the competitive society situating du bois in relation to the depression era roots of contemporary neoliberal thinking douglas shows that into the 1930s du bois ratcheted up a race conscious indictment of capitalism and liberal democracy and posed unsettling questions about how the compulsory pull of market relations breeds unequal outcomes and underwrites the perpetuation of racial animosities blending historical analysis with ethical and political theory and casting new light on several aspects of du bois s thinking this book makes a compelling case that du bois s sweeping disillusionment with western liberalism is as timely now as ever

though there are several studies devoted to aspects of martin luther king jr s intellectual thought there has been no comprehensive study of his overarching theory of political service in the drum major instinct justin rose draws on martin luther king jr s sermons political speeches and writings to construct and conceptualize king s politics as a unified theory rose argues that king s theoretical framework as seen throughout his wide body of writings has three central components first king posited that all of humanity is tied to an inescapable network of mutuality such that no member of society can fully flourish if there are structural barriers preventing others from flourishing second king s theory required that americans cultivate a sense of love and concern for their fellow members of society which would motivate them to work collectively toward transforming others and structures of injustice finally king contended that all members of society have the responsibility to participate in collective forms of resistance this meant that even the oppressed were obligated to engage in political service therefore marginalized people s struggles against injustice were considered an essential aspect of service taken together king s theory of political service calls on all americans but especially black americans to engage in other centered collective action aimed at transforming themselves others and structures of injustice by fully exploring king s thoughts on service the drum major instinct is an invaluable resource toward understanding how king wanted us all to work to create a more just democratic society and how his thoughts continue to resonate in contemporary struggles
