this book explores the political economy of subnational development in mexico like much of latin america mexico underwent market reforms and democratization in the late 20th century in addition to transforming national institutions these changes led to sharp political and economic divergence among mexican states the author offers a novel explanation for these uneven results showing how relations between local governments and organized business gave rise to distinct subnational institutions for managing the economy the argument is developed through a paired comparison of two states in central mexico puebla and querétaro this work will be of interest to students of latin american and mexican politics regional development and government business relations east asia is a powerhouse of automobile production yet across the region national automobile industries have had strikingly different patterns of development despite starting from equally low levels of performance and initially similar strategies countries have experienced vastly different results from thailand s success as an assembly hub for foreign automakers and china s unexpected achievements in building its own car industry to south korea s impressive development of an integrated industry to the philippines persistent weakness these divergent paths offer a fascinating window into the determinants of economic growth the political economy of automotive industrialization in east asia provides a political explanation for why development strategies and performance have been so uneven within one of the world s most important regions utilizing interviews and original language research from multiple nations this book explains that factors such as market size and neoclassical economic policies alone cannot explain these patterns of development richard f doner gregory w noble and john ravenhill instead highlight the significance of two sets of factors countries very different capabilities for implementing policies and the political forces that help to explain the emergence of effective institutions through cross national analyses of china taiwan south korea indonesia malaysia the philippines and thailand the book sets up a clear structure for understanding industrial development and how it enables or constrains the capabilities of domestic firms brief comparisons with brazil mexico and other developing countries confirm the utility of the analytic framework and demonstrate how it is superior both to accounts in mainstream economics and much of political science which fail to give sufficient emphasis to the role of public and public private institutions or provide an explanation of the political bases of those institutions in a world where auto assemblers and suppliers are facing new challenges in an ever evolving industry such as the transition to electric and autonomous vehicles this book offers a crucial perspective on the centrality of institutional capacities and political economy by tracing the divergent trajectories of seven nations the political economy of automotive industrialization in east asia offers lessons beyond the automobile industry that illustrate the broader importance of institutions to economic growth this report assesses chinese investment in u s aviation from 2005 to 2016 it provides context in china s demand for aviation products and aviation industrial policies while assessing technology transfers and impact on u s competitiveness chinese investment in u s aviation over the past decade has primarily involved lower technology general aviation manufacturers that do not affect u s competitiveness in american defense reform retired admiral and defense executive dave oliver and historian anand toprani use us naval history as a guide for leading successful change in the pentagon the authors show that change comes from collaboration between civilians the military and industry that leverages each groups strengths for the collective good this book examines the national automotive policy in malaysia to help readers gain an understanding of the country s industrial policy making processes addressing a gap in analysis of the political economy of the national automotive policy the research presented combines the new institutional theory and the developmental state approach to provide new insights into elite policymakers measures to shield domestic automotive enterprises from pro market reforms the formation of the national car project marks a turning point for malaysia s industrial development as a country which it envisions will lead to it becoming a major player in the global automotive market however the domestic institutional factors embedded in ethno economic interests and patronage constrain national car makers limiting their potential to grow and instead causing a slowdown in the industry allowing readers to understand the background to malaysia s heavy industrialisation programme and the birth of its national car projects this book critically discusses the significance of institutional context in policy outcomes and highlights how institutions and policies have impact growth or decline it is a valuable resource relevant to analysts researchers and students who are interested in the political economy of the national industrial policy and automotive industry in malaysia and beyond this book critically examines how the narrative of global economic competition was used to rationalize

institutional change fan zhang challenges traditional theory to explain the real origins of china s reform the political and economic forces driving it and the reasoning behind its stagnation the institutional re arrangement of government and market has been crucial in this marketization process using a wealth of documents and cases zhang provides a detailed analysis of china s institutional changes over the past 40 years focusing on the government market relationship a theoretical framework is presented to explain the targets and incentives of government and business firms in a bureaucratic market system which promoted economic growth but also fostered corruption and resulted in a re centralisation of the system using an index of marketization in china since 1978 zhang shows that overall market expansion has continued but with diminishing marginal gains the government control of financial resources that had previously been relaxed in the early years of reform has been enhanced to some extent as a result of the changing institutional environment policy makers dealing with china related policies researchers and postgraduate students in political science economics and effective consumer protection while widely considered a core pillar of the peace and security architecture security sector reform ssr is coming under fire ssr theory and practice are criticized for being overly focused on traditional conflict and post conflict settings and for being unable to adjust to unconventional settings marked by chronic crime and terrorism ssr tends to be disproportionately focused on national institutions and less amenable to engaging at the subnational scale drawing on the experiences of so called citizen security measures in cities across latin america and the caribbean this paper offers some opportunities for renewing and revitalizing ssr the emphasis of citizen security interventions on multiple forms of insecurity data driven and evidence informed prevention the promotion of social cohesion and efficacy and designing crime prevention into the social and built environment are all insights that can positively reinforce comprehensive ssr measures in the 21st century the surprise election of donald j trump to the presidency of the united states marks a singular turning point in the american republic not only because of his idiosyncratic approach to the office but also because the republican party now holds the presidency and both houses of congress presenting a historic opportunity for change the role of older americans has been critical in both shaping and reacting to this political moment their political orientations and behaviors have shaped it through their electoral support for republican candidates but older americans stand as highly invested stakeholders in the policy decisions made by the very officials they elected and as beneficiaries of the programs that republicans have targeted for cuts or elimination this comprehensive volume explores the ways in which trump administration policies are likely to significantly undermine the social safety net for near elderly and older americans including long term care housing health care and retirement the authors also explore how the trump administration might shape politics and political behavior through the policy changes made the response of older voters in upcoming elections to efforts by the trump administration and its republican allies in congress to draw back on the federal government s commitment to programs and policies affecting them will shape the direction of aging policy and politics for years to come this book was originally published as a special issue of the journal of aging social policy it is possible to present a brief summary of the subjects that the chapters in this book focus on ch 1 the hanke krus world hyperinflation table first appeared in the authoritative routledge handbook of major events in this selected issues paper examines the new private pension automatic enrollment provisions in turkey the newly enacted automatic enrollment provisions have several advantages relative to the current voluntary private pension system however they have several weaknesses that risk endangering the reform in the long term the hybrid input output is not complete without the establishment of a public procurement board and periodic auctioning of pension services employers are unlikely to be more skilled than individuals in choosing pension plans for their workers the imf staff advice is to complete the hybrid input output model along the lines recommended by the world bank by establishing a procurement board for pension services for undecided participants
