the effectiveness of sanctions cannot purely be measured by the way they change the behaviour of their intended target the degree to which sanctions constrain a rogue state s behaviour and the signals they send to future targets should also be prime considerations in this thought provoking book francesco giumelli measures the true effectiveness of eu sanctions against a range of states including belarus zimbabwe moldova uzbekistan the usa and china he demonstrates that focussing purely on behavioural change is limiting especially when considering the actions and motivations of an international organisation and develops a process to evaluate the direct and indirect impact of eu sanctions giumelli demonstrates the many different ways sanctions have been used by the eu to produce positive direct and indirect results and provides a multi level framework to assess the success of sanctions in the future

this book examines the islamist radicalisation process in europe developing a new theoretical model based on an empirical study of the evolution of islamist radicals in their social environment the approach of this book is to examine how and under what conditions people choose to radicalise it focuses on the experience of radicalisation from the perspective of those who have undergone it the study is based on trial and court material along with an extensive number of interviews collected from many different european countries and this biographical approach is used to address individuals and the details of their social environment overall the explanatory framework departs from the existing deterministic paradigm with grievances as causes also present in some psychological models and argues that radicalisation is a process much like occupational choice a rational choice made with social and ideational significance it
