The Land of Strong Men 2016-04-06 excerpt from the land of tomorrow that the voice of the north calls insistently a to him who once has dwelt amidst its snows is neither myth nor legend it is history like the song of the lorelei having heard it once it rings in his ears forever true it is a strenuous game which man plays against nature in alaska there as nowhere else on earth he pays the price for what he gets yet if you ask one who has loved and left her one who has lived among her mountains experiencing alike the bitter winter and the wondrous alaskan summer every day of which is perfect beyond the power of words to describe even though he may deny the call it is not difficult to detect the hidden longing underlying his reply for it is a fact not to be gainsaid that after such an experience no matter how much a man may have looked forward to a life of ease after his return he seldom finds it satisfying usually when he goes back home it is to find his old friends scattered or dead the old pleasures turn to gall and wormwood in his mouth in time the jar and turbulence of cities get on his nerves about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

A pocket dictionary of the English and Japanese language [by T. Hori].

1866 i confess to a great liking for the indian fashion of name giving every man known by that phrase which best expresses him to whoso names him thus he may be mighty hunter or man afraid of a bear according as he is called by friend or enemy and scar face to those who knew him by the eye s grasp only no other fashion i think sets so well with the various natures that inhabit in us and if you agree with me you will understand why so few names are written here as they appear in the geography for if i love a lake known by the name of the man who discovered it which endears itself by reason of the close locked pines it nourishes about its borders you may look in my account to find it so described but if the indians have been there before me you shall have their name which is always beautifully fit and does not originate in the poor human desire for perpetuity
