including pediatric neuroimaging spinal fluid examination and neurophysiology no introductory work of american history has had more influence over the past forty years than howard zinn's A People's History of the United States which since its publication in 1980 has sold more than three million copies zinn's iconoclastic critique of american militarism racism and capitalism has drawn bitter criticism from the right most recently from president donald trump who at his white house conference on american history in 2020 denounced zinn as a left propagandist and accused teachers aligned with zinn of indoctrinating students to hate america and be ashamed of its history rethinking america's past is the first work to use archival and classroom evidence to assess the impact that zinn's classic work has had on historical teaching and learning and on american culture this evidence refutes trump's charges showing that rather than indoctrinating students zinn's book has been used by teachers to have students debate and rethink conventional versions of american history rethinking america's past also explores the ways zinn's work fostered deeper more critical renderings of the american past in movies and on stage and television and traces the origins and assesses the strengths and weaknesses of a people's history in light of more recent historical scholarship what constitutes a data practice and how do contemporary digital media technologies reconfigure our understanding of practices in general autonomously acting media distributed digital infrastructures and sensor based media environments challenge the conditions of accounting for data practices both theoretically and empirically which forms of cooperation are constituted in and by data practices and how are human and nonhuman agencies distributed and interrelated in data saturated environments the volume collects theoretical empirical and historiographical contributions from a range of international scholars to shed light on the current shift from media to data practices artificial intelligence continues to be one of the most exciting and fast developing fields of computer science this book into the nasa scientific and technical information database it was a time of hope and desperation a time of reckoning in the early 1960s the mad men era a mood of menace gripped new york city the crime rate was growing and violence was becoming a daily reality for citizens in every neighbourhood at the centre of the unrest was a poisonous divide between two camps the deeply corrupt and racist police of the era and the african american community then on 28 august 1963 the day on which martin luther king jr stood on the steps of the lincoln memorial and declared i have a dream two young white women were murdered in their manhattan apartment the killings struck fear through the city and ignited a ten year saga of racial violence and unrest an epic true life story of murder injustice and defiance the savage city draws on interviews with participants and extensive research to tell the stories of three very different new yorkers an innocent man wrongly accused of murder a corrupt cop and a militant black panther and to explore this traumatic decade in the city's history don't stop believin pays tribute to the glorious mash up of music comedy drama and
