the account of an apostolic strategy to touch a region and change the hearts of men practical life field marshal montgomery s plan to get second british army behind the fortifications of the german siegfried line in 1944 led to the hugely ambitious operation market garden part of this plan called for a rapid advance from belgium through holland up to and across the lower rhine by the british xxx corps along a single road already dominated by airborne troops their objective along this road was the bridge at arnhem the target of british and polish airborne troops once xxx corps had reached this bridge it would then make for the german industrial area of the ruhr the operation was bold in outlook but risky in concept using specially commissioned artwork and detailed analysis ken ford completes this trilogy on operation market garden by examining this attack which if successful could have shortened the war in the west considerably yet it turned out to be a bridge too far peace operations are the un s flagship activity over the past decade un blue helmets have been dispatched to ever more challenging environments from the congo to timor to perform an expanding set of tasks from protecting civilians in the midst of violent conflict to rebuilding state institutions after war a new range of tasks has transformed the business of the blue helmets into an inherently knowledge based venture but all too often the un blue helmets policemen and other civilian officials have been flying blind in their efforts to stabilize countries ravaged by war the un realized the need to put knowledge guidance and doctrine and reflection on failures and successes at the center of the institution building on an innovative multi disciplinary framework this study provides a first comprehensive account of learning in peacekeeping covering the crucial past decade of expansion in peace operations it zooms into a dozen cases of attempted learning across four crucial domains police assistance judicial reform reintegration of former combatants and mission integration throughout the different cases the study analyzes the role of key variables as enablers and stumbling blocks for learning bureaucratic politics the learning infrastructure leadership as well as power and interests of member states building on five years of research and access to key documents and decision makers the book presents a vivid portrait of an international bureaucracy struggling to turn itself into a learning organization aimed at policy makers diplomats and a wide academic audience including those working in international relations peace research political science public administration and organizational sociology the book is an indispensable resource for anyone interested in the evolution of
