problems to help candidates identify focus on and master the specific topics that need the most work in recent years liberalization privatization and deregulation have become commonplace in sectors once dominated by government owned monopolies in telecommunications for example during the 1990s more than 129 countries established independent regulatory agencies and more than 100 countries privatized the state owned telecom operator why did so many countries liberalize in such a short period of time for example why did both denmark and burundi nations different along so many relevant dimensions liberalize their telecom sectors around the same time kirsten l rodine hardy argues that international organizations not national governments or market forces are the primary drivers of policy convergence in the important arena of telecommunications regulation they create and shape preferences for reform and provide forums for expert discussions and the emergence of policy standards yet she also shows that international convergence leaves room for substantial variation among countries using both econometric analysis and controlled case comparisons of eight european countries an exemplary study of how media regulation works and by implication how it could work better set within a wider discussion of democratic theory and political values it will be of interest not only to students and scholars but to people around the world grappling with the same problem the need to regulate markets and the difficulty of doing this well james curran goldsmiths university of london in media regulation two leading scholars of the media examine the challenges of regulation in the global mediated sphere this book explores the way that regulation affects the relations between government the media and communications market civil society citizens and consumers drawing on theories of governance and the public sphere the book critically analyzes issues at the heart of today's media from the saturation of advertising to burdens on individuals to control their own media literacy peter lunt and sonia livingstone incisively lay bare shifts in governance and the new role of the public sphere which implicate self regulation the public interest the role of civil society and the changing risks and opportunities for citizens and consumers it is essential reading to understand politics with voices that matter the fintech entrepreneur s guide to regulation and regulatory strategy fintech has been growing dramatically over the last few years and it is now an important sector in its own right this means that fintech companies who could so far often rely on a comparatively lenient regulatory regime will now have to give serious thoughts on compliance with applicable regulatory rules operating in a highly regulated environment is tedious but not all bad companies that can play the regulatory game well have a strategic advantage especially with regard to time to market and scaling nothing spells missed opportunity like a competitor building market share with a copycat product whilst you are still waiting for your license written for professionals this book helps anyone whose job has to do with formulating or executing a fintech startup strategy or whose job touches financial services regulation or anyone who simply wants an easy to read introduction to financial services and their regulation describes the purpose of and principle behind modern financial services regulation explains how to include regulation into a startup s strategic planning to optimize time to market and scaling gives an overview of the entire financial services space and which regulations apply where gives detailed references to 20 key regulations in the eu regulatory system including psd gdpr crd amld mifid ucitsd aifmd the first part introduces financial services regulation its purpose how it is created especially in the eu and in the us and it develops a framework for including regulations into the strategic planning of a company it also gives a rundown of the current financial services space players and products and its key regulations the second part describes a regulatory system in more detail the system chosen is the eu because it is more consistent and unified than the us system where a lot of the regulation still is created at the state level however as most financial regulation nowadays is determined at the global level the principles found in eu regulation will be by and large also be found the us and other systems the examiner
