A Time in the Life of the Filipino 1990 nowhere can we appreciate so easily the intertwined nature of the triple forces of knowledge accumulation capital colonial and racial than in the imperial museum where the objects of accumulation remain materially visibly preserved sarita see maintains that it is this material collection of artifacts associated with the racial colonial primitive that forms the foundation of american knowledge production the filipino primitive takes karl marx's concept of primitive accumulation usually conceived of as an economic process for the acquisition of land and the extraction of labor and argues that we also must understand it as a project of knowledge accumulation taking us through the philippine collections at the university of michigan natural history museum and the frank murphy memorial museum also in michigan see reveals these exhibits as both allegory and real case of the primitive accumulation subtending imperial american knowledge just as the extraction of filipino labor contributes to american capitalist colonialism with this understanding of the filipino foundations of the development of an american accumulative drive toward power and knowledge we can appreciate the value of filipino american cultural producers like carlos bulosan stephanie syjuco and ma yi theater company who have created incisive parodies of an accumulative epistemology even as they articulate powerful alternative anti accumulative social ecologies

The Making of the Filipino Nation and Republic 1998 preface a summary of the book the history that is about to be written will be written from the perspective of one who at the time of writing is already 93 years of age and who participated in a big way in the history of the times he lived in who had a maternal grandfather who was also involved in the history of the previous 70 years who read one book every day from the age of 10 to the age of 80 who lived the lives and absorbed the thoughts of the authors of 25 500 books he read and who had a beloved teacher in history the famous jesuit father horacio de la costa of ateneo who began his lectures with what i am about to tell you is the chismis gossip of a nation aborning from the perspective of the author filipino people from the time they were discovered by ferdinand magellan in 1521 mercifully fell asleep two oceans away from mother spain were spared the violence of war the plagues and the ferment of change that the whole continent of europe was blighted with and lived lives so much better than the peasants of the advanced countries it was only in the late 19th century after the opening of the suz canal that the filipinos woke up awakened by three heroes jose rizal who inspired them to be a nation andres bonifacio who inspired them to fight for their freedom and emilio aguinaldo who took on two great powers spain which he defeated and the united states which defeated him and in the process forged a nation for four glorious years from 1898 to 1902 gave it a flag an anthem and a constitution and made it the first in all asia to break the shackles of western colonialism and the first democracy in all of asia the last of the hispanic colonies and the first asian country to be liberated as the children of the french revolution from the perspective of the author the american occupation of the philippines accomplished with much cruelty in the philippine american war and so shamefully with the treaty of paris by which the united states paid spain 20 million for the philippines which spain no longer owned was marked by the understanding that the united states would prepare the filipinos for independence a pledge that was incorporated in a remarkable document drafted by the us secretary of war elihu root giving the defeated country the entire bill of rights gratis et amore something the anglo saxons earned for 647 years at the cost of so much blood and the hangman s knot the only counterpoint to elihu root was the military governor general arthur macarthur who acted like he was william the conqueror and dealt with filipinos as if he was king of the philippines nevertheless the united states fulfilled its pledge and the american occupation was dominated by one leader manuel l quezon president of the philippine commonwealth who steered his country to total absolute and complete independence or so he thought interrupted by the japanese attack and occupation during world war ii in a war as cruel and devastating as the philippine american war from 1898 to 1902 president quezon died in exile in the united states general douglas macarthur the son of general arthur macarthur fulfilled his personal pledge to liberate the philippines at the cost of 100 000 filipino lives despite the fact that his role was unnecessary that the usa was about to win the war with the atomic bomb about the author dr hilarion m henares jr known as larry henares is a graduate of ateneo de manila university of the philippines and the massachusetts institute of technology an engineer economist educator big businessman writer civic leader public servant and hobbyist guns books amateur radio and electronics he is a film maker who won the famas academy award for the best documentary of the year he was a businessman who was awarded young businessman of the year and the industrialist more inside

The Katipunan; or, The Rise and Fall of the Filipino Commune 1902-01-01 this book includes essays of the narrative of filipino lives in the united states to provoke interrogation of the conventional wisdom and a critique of the global system of capital it helps in constituting the filipino community as an agent of historic change in a racist society

1904 World's Fair 2004-08-28 josé protasio rizal mercado y alonso realonda june 19 1861 december 30 1896 was a filipino nationalist and polymath during the tail end of the spanish colonial period of the philippines he is tagged as the national hero pambansang bayani of the filipino people an ophthalmologist by profession rizal became a writer and a key member of the filipino propaganda movement which advocated political reforms for the colony under spain he was executed by the spanish colonial government for the crime of rebellion after the philippine revolution inspired in part by his writings broke out though he was not actively involved in its planning or conduct he ultimately approved of its goals which eventually led to philippine independence

Beginnings of the Filipino Dominicans 1990 jos rizal s thoughtful essay in which he discusses the nature of filipinos and life in his native philippines is presented here complete and in large print the popular attitude towards filipinos in the late 19th century was similar to that towards many other peoples subject to the colonialism of european countries namely that the native peoples were lazy and not given to a work ethic and thus guilty of a range of personal shortcomings and ultimately inferiority to the europeans who colonized the philippine archipelago rizal enthusiastically combats this notion by highlighting the circumstances hindering the filipinos the subjects raised by rizal include the problem of negligence and graft in the upper levels of governance the resulting mismanagement in public funds and hence lackluster development the hot climate whose humidity induces tiredness at an earlier hour than the temperate european climes and the prevalence of tropical disease are all cited additionally rizal notes that many europeans be they working in commercial plantations the church or in governance were guilty of indolence delegating many of their duties to low paid filipinos instead rizal also challenges the dogmatic opinion that people exist solely to produce goods and champions the notion that personal and familial happiness is a greater priority than satisfying the desires of others as a human workhorse a striking treatise with great relevance in the modern day the indolence of the filipino may also be read as a tragic foreshadowing of the problems now facing the modern philippines rizal expresses concern in the text that the problems he notes may snowball into greater threats in the case of corruption now an issue of nationwide prominence for filipinos this essay was correct

History of the Filipino People 1969 first published in 1998 the philippines play a major role in expanding the international filipino community through its promotion of international labor migration filipinos can currently be found in over 130 countries throughout the world as the first major work to conceive of filipino immigration as a diaspora this study analyses the diasporic nature of filipino relations identities and communities and shows how these transnational phenomena are socially constructed by the everyday actions and activities of filipino americans instead of focusing on an ethnic minority and its relation to its host society a diasporic perspective places emphasis on the transnational relations created and maintained among that minority its homeland and other diasporic communities transnational ties are evident in the movement of people money consumer goods information and ideas diaspora represents a new and fluid conceptual image quite apart from the usual coordinates based on physical location territory and distance transnational relations and practices will continue to be an increasingly important dimension of the filipino american community because of the ongoing family based immigration from the philippines further technological advances in communication and transportation the expansion of transnational capital and continuing racism and discrimination all of which have made it necessary for filipinos in the united states the philippines and throughout the world to create and maintain diasporic lives and culture
