T.E. Lawrence in Lincolnshire 2012-06-27 the 1 irish times bestseller winner of the an post irish book awards a clear eyed myth dispelling masterpiece marian keyes sweeping authoritative and profoundly intelligent colm tóibín guardian with the pace and twists of an enthralling novel irish times evocative moving funny and furious dominic sandbrook sunday times an enthralling panoramic book patrick radden keefe a book that will remain important for a very long time an post irish book award we don't know ourselves is a very personal vision of recent irish history from the year of o toole's birth 1958 down to the present ireland has changed almost out of recognition during those decades and fintan o toole's life coincides with that arc of transformation the book is a brilliant interweaving of memories though this is emphatically not a memoir and engrossing social and historical narrative this was the era of eamon de valera jack lynch charles haughey and john charles mcquaid of sectarian civil war in the north and the pope's triumphant visit in 1979 but also of those who began to speak out against the ruling consensus feminists advocates for the rights of children gay men and women coming out of the shadows we don't know ourselves is an essential book for anyone who wishes to understand modern ireland

Gujarat Riots: The True Story 2014-12-22 new york times bestseller new york times 10 best books of the year national bestseller the atlantic 10 best books of 2022 best books of the year washington post new yorker salon foreign affairs new statesman chicago public library vroman's like reading a great tragicomic irish novel james wood the new yorker masterful astonishing cullen murphy the atlantic a landmark history leavened by the brilliance of o toole's insights and wit claire messud harper's winner 2021 an post irish book award nonfiction book of the year from the judges the most remarkable irish nonfiction book i've read in the last 10 years a book for the ages a celebrated irish writer's magisterial brilliantly insightful chronicle of the wrenching transformations that dragged his homeland into the modern world fintan o toole was born in the year the revolution began it was 1958 and the irish government in despair because all the young people were leaving opened the country to foreign investment and popular culture so began a decades long ongoing experiment with irish national identity in we don't know ourselves o toole one of the anglophone world's most consummate stylists weaves his own experiences

into irish social cultural and economic change showing how ireland in just one lifetime has gone from a reactionary backwater to an almost totally open society perhaps the most astonishing national transformation in modern history born to a working class family in the dublin suburbs o toole served as an altar boy and attended a christian brothers school much as his forebears did he was enthralled by american westerns suddenly appearing on irish television which were not that far from his own experience given that ireland s main export was beef and it was still not unknown for herds of cattle to clatter down dublin s streets yet the westerns were a sign of what was to come o toole narrates the once unthinkable collapse of the all powerful catholic church brought down by scandal and by the activism of ordinary irish women in particular he relates the horrific violence of the troubles in northern ireland which led most irish to reject violent nationalism in o toole s telling america became a lodestar from john f kennedy s 1963 visit when the soon to be martyred american president was welcomed as a native son to the emergence of the irish technology sector in the late 1990s driven by american corporations which set ireland on the path toward particular disaster during the 2008 financial crisis a remarkably compassionate yet exacting observer o toole in coruscating prose captures the peculiar irish habit of deliberate unknowing which allowed myths of national greatness to persist even as the foundations were crumbling forty years in the making we don t know ourselves is a landmark work a memoir and a national history that ultimately reveals how the two modes are entwined for all of us
