wei hsien wan builds on the work of david horrell and travis williams for his argument that the letter of 1 peter engages in a subtle calculated form of resistance to rome that has often gone undetected whilst previous discussion of the topic has remained largely focused on the letter s stance toward specific roman institutions such as the emperor household structures and the imperial cults wan takes the conversation beyond these confines and examines 1 peter s critique of the roman empire in terms of its ideology or worldview using the work of james scott to conceptualize ideological resistance against domination wan considers how the imperial cults of anatolia and 1 peter offered distinct constructions of time and space that is how they envisioned reality differently insofar as these differences led to divergent ways of conceiving the social order they acquired political power and generated potential for conflict wan thus argues that 1 peter confronts rome on a cosmic scale with its alternative construal of time and space and examines the evidence that the petrine author consciously if cautiously interrogated the imperial imagination at its most foundational levels and set forth in its place a theocentric christological understanding of the world a formal analysis a singing contest comprises close readings of seamus heaney s poetry tyler argues that in an era of fractured poetry and politics seamus heaney stands out his impulse is towards unity and regeneration her book considers the interplay between different kinds of literary tradition and community in his poetry for heaney poetry represents a structure allowing imaginative mediation of conflicts that appear irreconcilable in the social political and historical realms by detailed structural analysis of diction meter imagery and generic form tyler illustrates how heaney s poems create concords from discords unities from fracture from the preface by rosanna warren a singing contest is written with imaginative and emotional urgency and in some large sense as it examines heaney s spells it seems itself to want to cast a spell against death hence tyler s return in various ways to readings of elegy whether the fictive elegies of classical pastoral poems or heaney s personal elegies she pores in detail over clearances the sonnet sequence composed in memory of the poet s mother in the haw lantern and she concludes her book with a chapter on literary elegies heaney s farewells to his friends and admired contemporaries ted hughes zbigniew herbert and joseph brodsky in these analyses one sees the wholeness of tyler s project her argument that for heaney literary tradition itself rightly received and transformed reaches into the voids made by death and establishes connection across rupture her thesis is an ancient one and she gives it particular shape and force in asking us to contemplate it at work in heaney where it binds individual to collective experience and past to present
