intelligence was probably linked to the use of spoken language but language itself evolved in the context of social interaction and in its development it has shaped and been shaped by social institutions taking as their starting point the social production of intelligence and of language scholars across a range of disciplines are beginning to rethink fundamental questions about human evolution language and social institutions this volume brings together anthropologists linguists primatologists and psychologists all working on this new frontier of research cyberterrorism in the 21st century is now one of the greatest threats to global security and information it transcends national borders and by extension national legal systems making it difficult for individual countries to formulate a cohesive defence plan against it the world has yet to see any serious acts of cyberterrorism targeting multiple countries at once but there is a need for countries to develop legal precedents to deal with this should it happen this book investigates cyberterrorism in terms of the conventions and legislation developed in response to the growing need to protect the digital infrastructure and information of citizens companies and governments it looks at the challenges faced by international organisations in first defining then responding to and curbing cyberterrorism following this is analysis of legal provisions with case studies of enforcement and of jurisdiction of these provisions unique in the way that all aspects of cyberterrorism are considered from initial infringement to eventual prosecution this book provides recommendations and guidance to law based post graduates and professionals working on digital crime and to those interested in national and
