calum carmichael asserts that biblical texts both in the old and new testaments which have been the subject of interpretation for centuries are themselves often the products of the ancient authors interpretation of still other literary compositions claiming that parts of the bible constitute major and very early examples of exegesis carmichael demonstrates that the author of the story of creation in genesis 1 produced his work in reaction to troubling issues that arose in the story of the exodus the author of john s gospel in turn recounted the life of jesus in light of the story of creation pointing out that much of modern literary criticism has roots in biblical hermeneutics carmichael turns his attention to the richness and complexity of the ancient world s own modes of interpretation by doing so he is able to uncover the heretofore unrecognized influence of the exodus story on the creation story and of the creation story on john s gospel carmichael first shows how the author of the seven day scheme of creation in genesis produced it in response to his reading of the exodus story which was centuries old in his time he then shows the extent to which the author of john s gospel was influenced by first century cosmological speculation philo s in particular in the first five chapters of his gospel the author elaborated the details of the creation story to present in allegorical fashion incidents from the life of jesus the lines have been drawn on one side are young earth creationists who assert that god created the universe in six days and based on calculations derived from the bible that the earth is six thousand years old on the other side are secular scientists who claim the universe has existed for over thirteen billion years the earth for 4 5 billion scientists claim that no miracles were necessary to form the universe and that everything is explained by natural causes however young earth creationists point to verses at the beginning of the bible and the beginning of the book of john that clearly claim that god created the universe in the beginning god created the heavens and the earth the earth was formless and void and darkness was over the surface of the deep and the spirit of god was moving over the surface of the waters genesis 1 1 2 in the beginning was the word and the word was with god and the word was god he was in the beginning with god all things were made by him and without him was not anything made that was made john 1 1 3 but what if there is no contradiction between scientific data and the bible arnold guyot was a nineteenth century geologist and geographer at princeton university in addition to his numerous scientific accomplishments he developed the day age interpretation of genesis 1 in which the days of creation represent geologic ages when we view the bible through this lens we find that modern science has not only failed to refute the miracles of genesis but has in fact provided abundant the need to position christianity in relation to other religions most notably judaism and islam has brought about a renewed interest in the theme of creation which has been off the theological agenda for much of the 20th century environmentalists biologists feminists and process theologians have all registered concerns from their different perspectives about the way in which the traditional doctrine of creation characterizes the relationship between the cosmos and its creator furthermore the holism of the new age and its resonance with eastern patterns of thought seems to offer something radically different from the judaeo christian understanding of the creation it is in the light of these concerns that the author argues for the doctrine of creation as a distinctively christian article of faith by recognizing at the same time that criticisms which have been made of its traditional formulations must be properly acknowledged and accommodated the author is able to use the best insights from secular disciplines to construct a theology of creation which is responsible this book investigates the philosophical components of christian faith in creation by analyzing the distinction and the relation between creation and its creator the writings of edward schillebeeckx and david burrell supply a terminology of distinction and relation that shapes the discourse following in the footsteps of aquinas poulsom elucidates the relational dialectic in the thought of schillebeeckx as a way of thinking about the creation and offers a helpful comparison with the thought of david burrell relational dialectic is an organizing principle not only of schillebeeckx s account of creation but of his philosophical theology more generally it can operate as a hermeneutic for his material on praxis and humanism in a way that resolves some problems noted by other schillebeeckx scholars poulsom s interpretation of schillebeeckx enriches current approaches to this thinker and offers a significant contribution to thinking on the doctrine of creation and issues surrounding the ontological distinction which is of major concern in philosophical theology today the beginning of genesis represents the basic foundation of the entire bible if the reader does not understand the foundational truths then he will likely misunderstand the rest of the book the truths that follow stand or fall upon the foundation of the first few chapters of genesis this book is a personal passion of my heart from a conservative viewpoint of god s creation of the world things did not just come into existence by some cosmic accident or chance but by an ingenious designer creator that purposed every facet of his perfect creation many individuals have been deceived with the teachings and the lies of evolution such as man arriving from a monkey some teachers have used these lies that the earth is billions of years old however the bible clearly teaches that creation came to pass just over 6 000 years ago those years are well documented in genesis and other bible accounts since my first degree was in science it is my desire to show every person possible that the bible is absolutely true and completely trustworthy the truth is that science is attempting to catch up with biblical truth yet it never will that is because the creator of this vast universe is so far advanced of all scientific discoveries that man will never be able to reach that super human level of wisdom god possesses unlimited understanding of creation that man will never achieve in the beginning every single thing made was perfect until man committed sin in genesis 3 my desire is to inspire all who are seeking to uncover the truth about creation to study those conservative teachings about life and how human beings arrived on earth there is absolutely no scientific evidence of any humans living on any of the other planets god announced early in genesis that his focus was upon the heavens and the earth which is taught throughout the bible he never mentions about man getting to another planet but he does desire that all humans go to heaven the provision for man to go to heaven is through the blood of jesus since this is the only way
